WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, Nov, 28, 1894.
From Our Regular Correspondent.)

Although Senator Cameron, of Pa., does not carry his dislike of the newspaper man in the search of an interview to the extent of contemptuously referring to him as one of "them d—literary fellows," as his distinguished father once did, he dislikes being interviewed for publication so much that he very rarely meets such a request favorably. This fact is well known to the fakers who have been writing so much tom foolery about the political partnership formed between Senator Jones, of Nevada, only two principles—the free coin age of silver and protection—which is to nominate Senator Cameron for the Presidency in 1896. The builders of the story or series of stories, counted upon Senator Cameron publicly expressed silver opinions his friendship with Senator Jones, and every man's willingness to become President, to give an air of probability to their stories, and, judging from letters received in Washington from all sections, they did not count in vain. These stories were first started just after Senator Jones announced that he had become a populist, and soon died out. Within the last two or three days they have been given a fresh start with many additional details. As fairy stories they do credit to the imagination of their authors, but as political information they are simply rot of the worst sort. It can be stated upon the personal authority of Senator Cameron that he has never at any time even considered withdrawing from the republican party; that he knows of no possible combination of circumstances that would cause him to do so, that he does not expect to be nominated for President by a silver party, and would not accept such a nomination were it tendered to him, although he favors a free use of silver as money and hopes to see the republican party take steps toward that end in the near future.

Representative Savers, of Texas, chairman of the House committee on appropriation and one of the ablest democrats in that body, does not hesitate to say that nothing but republican support saved him and on a other [illegible] tative—elect—Calhoun—from being defeated by the populists. He also says of Representative—elect Noonan, who was elected by the republicans in the eleventh Texas District: "He was a Union man throughout the war, and since then has been regularly elected judge in a democratic district against all opposition. He is about sixty years old popular and capable. That he will like Congress, I am not sure. If the republicans had nominated men of his stamp in all I believe they would have elected four or five Congressmen."

Moneyed democrats are showing a very decided disposition to sit down hard upon Senator Faulkner, of W. Va., instead of subscribing money to aid his new rainbow scheme, of utilizing the machinery of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee to distribute literature intended to educate the democratic masses up to a proper financial level. It will donbtless be remembered that Senator Faulkner is chairman of that committee. One man who gave the Congressional Committee a Check with four figures was approached by Senator Faulkner and asked to subscribe to the new scheme, and he is reported to have said: "Look here. Faulkner. if that committee really has any machinery, send it to the neares junk shop as soon as you can, for it is worthless for any useful purpose. And as for the democratic masses, I have no doubt about their existence I have no more money to throw down rat holes."

It is generally understood that Mr. Cleveland is now dividing his attention between a painful attack of the gout in his foot and the preparation of his annual message to Congress, but a democrat who ought to know said to-day: "The idea Mr. Cleveland is engaged in writing his message with his own hands is an erroneous one. I happen to know that he isn't writing his message at all. He has a daily talk with Dan. Lemont during which he goes over what he desires to say upon a certain subject, leavins tthe writing and the literary shaping of it entirely to Lemont, who makes full notes and at the next interview carries what he has in the meantime written out to Mr. Cleveland and leaves it with him for revision. That's the way Mr. Cleveland is writing his message."

By the way, speaking of the message, it is not certain that it will contain any detailed recommendations as to a new financial system, notwithstanding Mr. Cleveland's recent intimation that it would The reason is that great gressure is being brought to have the financial part of the message limited to a recommendation that Congress authorize the President to appoint a nonpartisan monetary commission to make a full investigation and report what financial legislation ought to be enacted. Two members of the Cabinet—Olney and Morton—are committed to the commission idea and others are said to be favorably inclined towards it, but Mr. Cleveland has heretofore attached no weight to Cabinet or any other opinions, except when they agreed with his own.

For Forest Reservations.

Dr. Rothrock's scheme for forest reservations in this State is very much on the order of the plan to preserve the Adirondack regions and the White Mountain country. Prodigal waste of timber territory in Pennsylvania has brought about a condition of premium upon the section of pine and hemlock that remain, and one of the purpose of the State Fosestry Commission was to point out a practical way to save what now exists and provide for the future.

It is important, then, to consider the proposition to locate three reservations within the Commonwealth. New York has been unequal to the task of establishing one park, although the work began a decade ago. The New Hampshire effort is of a later date, and through the State Commissioners give promise of success. Dr. Rothrock's idea is to empower a commission to locate a forest park in Pike, Monroe, Luzerne or Lackawanna counties, follow this with a second park in Clearfield, Elk, Cameron, McKean or Forest counties, and have a third in Sullivan, Lycoming, Clinton, Centre or Potter counties.

This covers the sparsely settled parts of the State with the exceptions of Luzerne and Lackwanna counties, and even there the population is the mining towns. The first park includes 717,498 population to an area of 3,016 square miles; the second park accounts for 3,723 square miles and a population of 154.387, and the third park has 176,931 population to 4,802 square miles.

While the adoption of the reservation project is urged by unanswerable argument in the rapidly disappearing farests before the assaults of fire, saw mills, the railroads and wood acid works, the day of its execution should not be a long ways ahead.

Standard Dictionary Volume II

The publishers announce that the date of publication of Funk & Wagnalls' Standard Dictionary will be November 28th, at which time the delivery of Volume II. will begin; also the delivery of the single-volume edition.

By actual count the Standard Dictionary contains, exclusive of the Appendix, 301,865 vocabulary words and phrases, and the Appendix of Proper Names, Foreign Phrases, etc., contains 47,468 entaies, making the total vocabulary of the Dictionary 349,333—this after great care has been exercised to exclude all useless words. The immense increase of the vocabulary of the English Language appears from the fact that the vocabulary of Webster's International Dictionary is 125,000 and the Century Dictionary is 225,000.

It is remarkable to note the high testimonials the Standard Dictionary continues to receieve from leading educational authorities in Europe and America, as Dr. John T. Duffield, of Princeton College, N. J., who writes: It will be conspicuous among the enduring monuments of intellectual life at the close of the nineteenth century. For comprehensiveness of vocabulary, accuracy of definition, judicious arrangement of material, instractive illustrations and admirable typography. it is superior to any other work of its class, and ere long will supersede them, and be recognized as the STAFDARD DICTIONARY."

Nature, London, Eng., J. Norman Lockyer, the celebrated astronomer editor says: "It passes the wit of man to suggest anything which ought to have been done that has not been done to make the dictionary a success.

—Thursday evening on the 9.30 train Miss Ella Haupt returned home from Elgin, Illinois, where she has been stopping with her aunt, Mrs, M. C. Light and with her uncle Capt. A. Wiltheis, of the Illinois National Guards who were at Chicago during the riots of 1894. He guarded the railroad property with his company. Miss Haupt went west in February 1892, while there she worked at her trade of dress making, part of the time with a private family at two dollars a day and board. She has come home now to stay.

—In announcing Governor-elect Hastings as an available presidential candidate, the Weekly Horne, of Howard, Col. D. S. Dunham, editor, says: "Reed lives too far east to represent the middle and western states. McKinley represents only one idea, a high tariff, and that Harrison's unpopular administration caused the election of Cleveland. What the people desire is a president possessing broad, national, conservative views, "of the people and for the people," and that Gen. Hastings possesses all these qualifications.

Weekly Financial Review.

New York, Nov 24, 1894.

As usual at this period of the year, business in Wall Street is dull and drooping. The flush of speculative interest that generally appears on the return of operators from summer recreation has exhausted itself, and there is little disposition to undertake new ventures on the near approach of the season of holiday and of annual settlements. The present is a good time for buying in preparation for the usual New Year's rise, and therefore even the 'bulls' are not unwilling to see prices easy.

This temper of affairs has been encouraged by the reduction of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy divided from 5 per cent to 4 per cent; the effect of which was a fall of fully 2 points in the stock and nearly an equal sympathetic decline in the other Grange shares. The surprise is that this occurence should have had such an effect upon prices. A reduction of dividends is naturally to be expected under such a state of business as has prevailed for many months, and a fall in the market value of stocks has already taken place in anticipation of that probability. The market, however, is not in a sanguine mood at the moment, and therefore the "bears" found it easy to use the C. B. & Q's reduction of dividend as a means of breaking prices.

Although the railroads are now doing a fair business, yet some of them have to take freight at low rates and, in the absence of any special "bull" factor, there is a disposition to let prices drift rather than make any special effort to advance them. The reception given to the new Government loan has not yet materially helped other securities. On the one hand, there is some diversity of opinion as to the necessity of contracting a new loan in such an awkward form to run for so long a period as ten years. On the other hand, the requirement that the subscription shall be paid in the form of gold has emphasized the discussion about money discrimination, which only increases the confusion on that question and is given to it an imaginary importance beyond what it really possesses. The effect of this sensitiveness about terms of money is, first, to emphasize the importance of the Treasury getting more gold, and, next, to increase the difficulty of its getting it. It cannot be said that this sort of confusion produces any real apprehension; but it has created a certain uneasiness, and keeps the attention of the patient on the symptoms of his disease in a way that is unfavorable to recovery. Nor is the way out of this condition of slow financial fever as yet entirely open and clear. The large subscriptions to the loan will help to quiet this unrest and restore confidence; but the political doctors are prescribing a long and tedious course of treatment to which the patient is to be subject as soon as Congress assembles. The Administration is understood to have it in contemplation to recommend a broad scheme of reconstruction of our currency system, its main points being the retirement of the Government legal tender paper and its substitution by a more elastic system of bank issues than that which now exists. There is perhaps no great division of opinion about the importance of some judicious revision of our monetary arrangements, and when it is all accomplished the results may prove very beneficial to the country at large. But this prospect introduces another new element of change; and with change comes unsettlement and postponements about matters that anxiously await action and accomplishment; and not a few take it grumblingly that having got off the tariff gridiron we should now be pitched upon the hot coals of currency reform. This new source of legislative uncertainty is one of the influences that is now acting unfavorably upon the stock market, and it must be assigned as one of the causes of the weakness of prices during the past week.

Then, again, some dissatisfaction is felt that, while there is no doubt about the loan being subscribed for abundantly in one form of money or another, yet there is no assurance that the 50 millions now being borrowed will suffice either to maintain the reserve at the legal minimum or to provide for the deficiencies of revenue. The rent in the Treasury finances is only patched, not repaired in such a way as to hold good. When Congress reassembles this whole matter must come up and, with so many diverse and divisive interests concerned in it, there is no foreseeing by what means the public finances will be relived of their present sources of derangement. It is felt on all sides that the trouble is no longer one of real difficulty in the handling, and that the hand of a strong and resourceful financier could readily put affairs into normal shape and end the vague distrust that is holding every form of enterprise in arrest. But such a hand seems lacking.

It seems impossible that this timidity and hestitation of management can much longer keep affairs in their present uncertainty. The immediate problem is now to fill up the Treasury gold reserve and at the same time secure for the Government a gold form of income sufficient to keep the reserve good under any contingencies. There should be no really serious difficulties in the way of solving this question. The supply of gold in the country is many times over what the problem calls for. It is within reach of availbaility for the purposes of the Treasury; and it is within the power of the banks to make it available sufficiently for the purpose contemplated. The banks could now afford to pay out a considerable amount of gold to importers for customs duties; and if the Treasury would back them in so doing by returning to them as much gold as possible through the Clearing House, the deadlock would be broken and affairs would again run in normal grooves. The present indications are that matters are tending towards some such simple method of adjustment; and on that account we hope to see an early end of the present derangements without much dependence on Congressional bungling When that comes, a marked and real recovery of confidence may be looked for, and "the good times coming" of the "bulls" will be here.

QUITE A SENS ATION.

A New York State Judge Was the Person Who Caused It.

New York, November 27.—Presiding Judge Robert R Hudspeth, of the Hudson county court of common pleas in Jersey City, created a sensation this morning when he ascended the bench and announced to attempt had made to bribe the court. He commanded Howard Wayne to stand before the bar and after telling him that he was accused of that crime, ordered Constable Loch to take him over to the Hudson county jail where Justice Maes committed him on a complaint of bribery. He will be held to await the action of the grand jury, which is now in session. If indirected and convicted he may be sentenced to five years imprisonment and to pay a fine of $1,800.

Wayne [illegible] was recently found guilty of selling policy slips in Jersey City and Judge Hudspeth sentenced him to one year's imprisonment. The sentence had not yet been carried into effect. This morning when the elder Wayne appeared at the court house and asked to see the judge, the latter was conferring in the private room with Lay Judges Hoffman and Henry, but when Wayne made a Masonic sign and asked for a private audience, the other judges left the room. Wayne then said to the judge: "I am a Mason, judge, and so are you. I want to let up on my boy. If you will suspend sentence on him it will be worth all the way from $1,000 to $5,000."

"Well" answered Judge Hudspeth, who wanted a witness to the statement, "I'll have to consult one of the other judges on this."

He called in Judge Hoffman, and in his presence Wayne repeated the offer. Then Judge Hudspeth became so angry that he struck Wayne and immediately ordered his arrest.

Later the judge said publicly that anybody who attempted to bribe a judge or court in Hudson county must suffer the penalty of the law, Mason or no Mason.

Harper & Brothers will publish on Nov. 23 the following works: The Christmas Hirelings, a novel, by M. E. Braddon; Chapters from Some Unwritten Memoirs, by Anne Thackeray Ritchie; A Sporting Pilgrimage, by Caspar W. Whitney; Wayside Poems, by Wallace Bruce; a Bread-and-Butter Miss, a novel, by George Paston; The Royal Marine, by Brander Matthews; A Kentucky Cardinal, by James Lane Allen; An Agitator, by Clementina Black; and Volume XV. of Harper's Young People—the last-mentioned being a volume containing 888 large pages, with, about 800 illustrations.

Major-elect Strong of New York intimated in his recent speech at the Chamber of Commerce dinner that he might like to appoint a women as commissioner of street-cleaning. The lady he had in mind is Mrs. Eleonora Kinnicutt, the wife of a prominent New York physician. Mrs. Kinnicutt took a leading part in the agitation which led to the enactment of the present street-cleaning law, and she has also done effective work in various lines of municipal reform. By a peculiar coincidence, a paper by Mrs. Kinnicutt, "The American Woman in Politics," will be printed in The Century for December.

Jacob Stoltz, a well known citizen of Chest township, Cambria county, who on Friday night of last week suffered a paralytic stroke, died at his home at St. Boniface on Friday, ageded about 67 years. He had been for years a prominent farmer but not longago sold his farm and moved to St. Boniface, where he had since lived retired.

BY WAY OF WASHINGTON.

Some Interesting News Comes from the Navy Department.

Washington, November 22.—The navy department to-day received a cablegram from an officer of the American fleet in China, detailed for the purpose of giving confidential information of important events in the eastern war, stating that the Chen Yuen, the great chinese battleship, in leaving Wei-Hai-Wei harbor on the 18th inst., was accidentally damaged by a torpedo and was afterward beached, there being no docking facilities. She is therefore now useless. Commodore Lin, who was in command of the vessel, anticipated official condemnation and committed suicide.

Wei-Hai-Wei is the great arsenal of China and it is presumed the Chen Yuen went there recently from Port Arthur, where she had been with the rest of the Chinese vessels that survived the battle of the Yalu.

Wei-Hai-Wei harbor is directly across the bay of Corea from Talien Wan, distant 150 miles, and it is significant that the Japanese Admiral Ito telegraphed to his government under the date of the 18th from Talien Wan, stating that the principal Chinese fleet, with four gun boats, was lying inside the harbor at Wei-Hai-Wei, and that, although for two days, the Japanese fleet had made every effort to induce the Chinese vessels to come out, their attempts had proved fruitless. The admiral appears then to have returned to Talien Wan, probably on the 18th, leaving a portion of his fleet watching for the appearance of Chinese vessels outside of Wei-Hai-Wei.

The Chen Yuen possibly came out to attack the Japanese fleet when she touched upon one of the submarines which the Chinese themselves had placed in the channel of the harbor as a means of defense.

With the loss of the Chen Yuen, her greatest battle ship, China becomes practically powerless on the sea. This splendid vessel was very much like the Maine, of the United States navy, [illegible] tons displacement and 6,200 horse power, her length being 308 feet, beam fifty-nine feet and draught two feet. She had a belt of fourteen inch composite armor, her turrets being twelve inches thick. She was armed with four twelve-inch Krupp guns, two of fifteen centimeter calibre, four of one ton; eight machine guns, two light rapid fire rifles and was provided with two torpedo launching tubes. She was finished at a cost of about $3,000,000 in 1882. Her speed was 14½ knots and her bunkers held 1,000 tons of coal.

JUMPED FROM A TRAIN.

A Bold and for a Brief Time a Successful Attempt for Liberty.

Huntingdon, Pa., November 27.—This morning about 4 o'clock, as first section of Western express was passing this point, a man jumped from the steps of one of the coaches. The train was running at a speed of about forty miles an hour, and singular as it may seem the individual escaped with but a few slight bruises and cuts on his body. No one saw the man's desperate leap from the flying express, and his act was not discovered until some time afterwards.

It was subsequently learned that the man was Fred Neiman, a crook from Cleveland, Ohio, who was being taken from Philadelphia to Cleveland to answer the charge of grand larceny. He was in charge of City Detective James Doran, of Cleveland, at the time of his desperate attempt to escape.

To a newspaper representative Detective Doran related his experience with the prisoner as follows: "Nieman had been employed at Mike Kennedy's summer resort near Cleveland as a waiter. One day, while unobserved, he sneaked into his employer's room and stole $250 in cash and a diamond pin worth $200. The theft was not discovered at the time and Nieman succeeded in escaping from the city. He was located in Philadelphia, and I went there Sunday and arrested him.

"Our return trip was uneventful until we reached Huntingdon, when Nieman asked permission to go into the toilet room, which I granted. I had my eyes on him constantly, and I [illegible] how he succeded in getting out of the car door without my seeing him. However, he did get out, and jumped off. The conductor refused to stop the train for me and I was carried through to Altoona, where I telegraphed back to the railroad officials of Nieman's escape, and gave a description of the man."

Detective Doran returned to this town on the first train, and, in company with Railroad Detective Westbrook made an unsuccessful search for the fugitive along the railroad east of town. When he again returned to town he was greatly relieved to learn that Nieman was safely confined in the county jail. Baggage Master John Anderson had made the arrest. When Detective Doran and Westbrook were some distance east of town, the fugitive himself walked into the baggage room at the station and asked Mr. Anderson if he would telegraph for a satchel which had been carried through. The description Mr. Anderson had received of the fugitive tallied exactly with the appearance of his interlocutor, and being almost positively certain that the latter was the criminal wanted, he made the arrest and the prisoner proved to be the right man.

Detective Doran was overjoyed to learn of the recapture of Nieman, and he was very profuse in his thanks to Mr. Anderson. The officer and prisoner departed on way passenger for the Ohio city.

In his desperate jump for liberty it is astonishing that Nieman was not killed.

In Other Counties.

Robert H White, a cabinet maker in the service of W B Crook, Williamsport, suddenly dropped to the floor of the workshop on Saturday morning, expiring almost instantly.

The Gold Premium.

Secretary Carlisle has made one more display of financial efficiency. He has created an artificial premium on gold in the effort to prevent a premium. The bond issue, on which bids will be opened to-day, is made to keep greenbacks redeemable in gold. The issue, looking to the wide world of finance, is not large. A skillful Secretary would have handled its issue so as to draw gold to New York without disturbing the delicate balance of our currency.

But Mr. Carlisle is not skillful. He blunders wherever a blunder is possible. The very bonds he is issuing now and which he issued last February he declared in a memorable interview in the Spring of 1893 could not be issued to protect the currency, and the shock to confidence caused by his declaration did its large share to precipitate last year's panic. By dividing his issue of bonds between last February and now Secretary Carlisle has lost half their moral effect, and both promise to be mere stop-gaps instead of effective instruments in maintaining the gold parity of the currency.

When it came to obtaining the gold for the present issue the same blundering has appeared. The law makes these bonds payable in "coin." Mr. Carlisle needed gold. A Secretary who had the confidence of the New York banks could have got "gold" offered, even if he said "coin." A strong Secretary who had broken with the banks would have used his legal discretion and rejected any bids which did not offer gold.

Mr. Carlisle not only blunders, he is weak. He is not only weak, he has lost the confidence of the great bank managers of the land. When he announced gold as the only payment the Treasury would receive for the bonds the Secretary ought to have foreseen a probable drain on the Treasury. He did not. When it came he began ostentatiously to note the names of firms offering greenbacks for redemption in gold. This came too late for gold imports before the bids for bonds were opened. This drove intending subscribers into a corner. Gold was necessary. The customary supply from the Treasury was stopped too late for import. A premium was inevitable.

It is small. It is a mere passing incident. It does not affect the stability of the currency. But it adds one more illustration of the incompetency of Grover Cleveland's Secretary. He set about to prevent a premium on gold and he has managed so as to create one.

Found Guilty of Conspiracy.

Ridgway, Pa., November 22.—The seven miners charged with conspiracy to burn, [illegible] the tipple at the Paine [illegible] found guilty by the jury this morning. Ed. Fox and Leo Wurm pleaded guilty to the charge of placing explosives under a building, which was all that was charged against them. The other five, Frank Myers, Ludwig Rosenbeck, Joseph Kreitle, William Beitner and Wassel Swinter, were found guilty of all charges of the indictment, which accused them of burning and consenting to the crime. Frank Myers was the man who agreed or offered to do the act when it was proposed. At a meeting of miners who had gone to Paine mine on June 10 to induce the men to quit who were supposed to be at work, it was proposed to kill their employer, but that was voted down. A second proposition to burn the tipple was unanimously carried and the query as to who should do the act was settled by Myers volunteering to do the deed. The men then ran a score or more mine cars into the tipple, wrecking them, and they were burned with the other property. All of the evidence consisted of a series of self confessions, which had been obtained from the men by detectives.

Three Lives Go Out.

Cumberland, Md., November 25.—This morning at 2 o'clock a terrible accident occurred at Green Springs, W. Va., eighteen miles east of this place, resulting in the death of Isaac Taylor, aged 60 years; his wife, aged 58, and Miss Kidwell, aged 17. They were crossing the South Branch bridge on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad when the New York and the Chicago express train struck the three and hurled them into the river below, a distance of fifty feet, killing them instantly. All three were badly mangled, the body of the young lady being horribly mutilated. The engineer said he did not see them until he was within two car lengths of them, and then it was impossible to stop the train.

A Double Tragedy in Lancaster.

Lancaster, November 25.—A terrible tragedy was discovered in the southern part of this city this morning in a house on Woodward street, occupied by Jacob Mohow and his mistress, Mrs. Kate Doman. The dead body of Mohow and the unconscious body of the woman were found with bullets in their brains. The supposition is that Mohow shot the woman and then committed suicide. The couple had been drinking and quarreling last night, and it is thought that the quarrel was resumed this morning and resulted in the tragedy. The woman was still alive this evening, but there is no hope of her recovery. Mohow was 57 years of age and a veteran of the late war. The woman was some years his junior.

SALTY SENTENCES.

Miners Who Had Anarchistic Ideas Go to the Pen.

Ridgway, Pa., November 23.—Frank Myers, Ludwig Rosenback and William Geltner, three of the seven miners on trial for burning coal tipples and placing bombs beneath buildings during the strike last June, were to-day sentenced to pay a fine of $1 and costs of prosecution and to undergo an imprisonment in the Allegheny penitentiary of seven years at separate and solitary confinement and hard labor. This sentence was on one charge of the indictment and the judge declared that if they ever returned to Elk county they would receive the same sentence on the other two indictments.

Joseph Kreitle and Wassel Swintner were sentenced to pay a fine of $1 and costs of prosecution and to undergo an imprisonment in the penitentiary at separate and solitary confinement for five years each.

Edward Fox and Leo Wurm, who pleaded guilty to placing gunpowder beneath buildings, were sentenced on one charge to pay a fine of $1 and the costs of prosecution and to undergo an imprisonment at separate and solitary confinement at hard labor in the state's prison for a term of three years each. These two also have another charge hanging over them, which the judge said would be met with a similar sentence if they ever again came into Elk county.

The half hundred or more miners who were arraigned for violating an injunction of the court last June in marching along the public highway in a body during the strike in this region, were to-day acquitted by Judge Mayer who took the case away from the jury and rendered a verdict as above. Eight of the number, who had forfeited their recognizance and departed for Italy some weeks ago, were found guilty as indicted as a sort of vindication to the court for the action taken.

Bringing Back to Life a Man.

Ever since the adoption of the electrical execution act by the State of New York, the Westinghouse people, whose dynamos are used, have declared that electricity was not the cause of death, but that death resulted from the holding of an autopsy after the body had been taken from the electric chair. No less an authority than Nicola Testa, the famous electrician, contended that he could bring back the life of a man killed in an electric chair, providing the attempt was made immediately after the execution. George Westinghouse has already asserted that electrical death was a sham, and that a New York commission, headed by Eldridge T. Gerry had added the autopsy clause to the law so as to make it certain that the man was dead. [illegible] the subject has again become prominent and an appeal is to be made to Governor Flower to allow the next man committed to death as a subject to be experienced on. The Governor says he will grant permission to do this. The attempt, if made, will undoubtedly create great excitement and intense interest in the scientific world.

Little Things of Life.

Why is it that we so easily forget that the little things in life are what make it easy or hard? A few pleasant words, a warm hand clasp, a cordial letter, are simple things, but they are mighty in their influence on the lives of those about us, adding a ray of hope to many disconsolate hearts, giving a bit of courage to disappointed, weary ones and helping to make our own lives sweeter at the same time. Few people realize how much the little attentions of everyday life mean to their associates in the home, the church, the business place. It is generally a lack of consideration which makes one forget the tiny pleasantries, but lack of consideration is really one form of selfishness, and selfishness is not considered a desirable quality. Remember that the little things of life, either good or bad, count for more with those we love than we ever know, and we should be watchful of our actions and our words.

Pleasant Gap Scourged by Diphtheria

That dread contagion diphtheria has become prevalent at Pleasant Gap and is spreading with alarming rapidity. On Sunday Wilbur Irvin, a bright little boy fell a victim to it. On Tuesday a three year old daughter of H. G. Meese, of Lauvertown, near by, died and an older child is not expected to recover from the disease. Mr. Meese is the school teacher at the Springs and did not have any idea that his little daughter was suffering with diphtheria until D. Y. Dale, of Lemont was called on Monday when it was too late.

Wednesday morning Ira, the five year old son of David Rimey died with the same affliction. That same morning the public schools were closed and will remain so until the danger of its spreading is over.

A Timely Suggestion.

The Scientific American gives this recipe, which the whole world ought to know. At the first indications of diphtheria in the throat of a child, make the room close, then take a tin cup and pour into it a quantity of tar and turpentine, equal parts. Then hold the cup over a fire, so as to fill the room with fumes. The little patient, on inhaling the fumes, will cough up and spit out all the membraneous matter, and the diphtheria will pass out. The fumes of the tar and turpentine loosen the matter in the throat, and thus afford the relief that has baffled the skill of physicians.

CHANGES FOR BETTER.

Gain Is Slow, but the Signs of It Are More Definite.

New York, Nov. 23.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade to-morrow will say: There are some changes for the better. The gain is slow, and in some directions not very distinct, but the signs of it are a little more definite than last week. The most important of them is larger employment of labor, answering a better demand on the whole for manufactured products. Much of this is due to the unnatural delay of orders for the winter, which resulted from prolonged uncertainty, but it means actual increase in earnings and purchasing power of the millions, and so gives promise of a larger demand in the future. Prices of farm products in the aggregate do not improve, but the prevailing hopefulness is felt in somewhat larger transactions. The foreign demand for cotton continues large, exports being 50,000 bales larger than for the same week last year, but receipts also continue greater than a year ago.

Textile industries have added a few factories to the working list against only one or two withdrawn and there has been some improvement in the demand for woolens. The iron industry again records lower prices for Bessemer iron, $10.40 at Pittsburg, and for some manufactured products. The consumption is large, and for the season fairly well maintained, but, as it is not equal to the capacity of works in operation, their struggle to get business keeps prices at the bottom. The coke product slightly decreases, but was about the largest ever known for October.

Railroad earnings in November thus far show a decrease of 3.6 per cent. compared with last year and are 9.8 per cent. less than in 1892. Failures this week have been 322 in the United States against 385 last year and thirty-one in Canada against thirty-four last year.

Jay Gould's Will.

New York, November 23.—The executors of the will of Jay Gould, who were directors to show cause today before Surrogate Fitzgerald why they should not be compelled to file an inventory of the estate were represented in court by Colonel Edward C. James.

Lawyer T. J. Morrison appeared as the counsel for the Missouri Soldiers' Orphaes' Home, which claims to be a creditor of the estate of Jay Gould to the extent of $10,000 and which has suit pending in the supreme court to compel Russell Sage and the executors of the estate of Jay Gould to render an accounting of the trust of which Sage and Gould were the trustees, consisting of consolidated bonds of the Kansas and Pacific railway.

It is charged that the trustees appropriated the entire trust fund to their own use [illegible] holders for it. Suits to compel the executors and Sage to render an accounting of this trust have been brought in other courts.

The object of this proceeding in the surrogate court is to force the executors to file an accounting of the estate so that this so called creditor may get an idea as to the value of the estate and then seek to compel them to deposit $11,000,000 in court to secure the claim of the soldiers' home.

Keep the Children Busy.

Teach children to do little things about the house. It trains them to be useful, not awkward in later and more important affairs; it gives them occupation while they are small, and it really is an assistance to the mother in the end, although she feels during the training period that it is much easier to do the thing herself than to show another how. This last excuse has done much to make selfish, idle, unhandy members of an older society, and should be remembered, in its effects, by the mother while her little ones are beginning to learn all things, good and bad, at her knee. Occupation makes happiness, and occupation cannot be acquired too young.

A NARROW ESCAPE!

How it Happened.

The following remarkable event in a lady's life will interest the reader: "For a long time I had a terrible pain at my heart, which fluttered almost incessantly. I had no appetite and could not sleep. I would be compelled to sit up in bed and belch gas from my stomach until I thought every minute would be my last. There was a feeling of oppression about my heart, and I was afraid to draw a full breath. I couldn't sweep a room without sitting down and resting; but, thank God, by the help of New Heart Cure all that is past and I feel like another woman. Before using the New Heart Cure I had taken different so-called remedies and been treated by doctors without any benefit until I was both discouraged and disgusted. My husband bought me a bottle of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and am happy to say I never regretted it, as I now have a splendid appetite and sleep well. I weighed 125 pounds when I began taking the remedy, and now I weigh 130½. Its effect in my case has been truly marvelous. It far surpasses any other medicine I have ever taken or any benefit I ever received from physicians."—Mrs. Harry Starr, Pottsville, Pa., October 12, 1892.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is sold on a positive guarantee by all druggists, or by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles $5, express prepaid. This great discovery by an eminent specialist in heart disease, contains neither opiates nor dangerous drugs.

In Other Counties.

Burglars entered the distillery of Fry & Matthias at Manor Station on Wednesday night, securing $6.

Andrew A. Todd, of Mifflintown, formerly a resident of this city, died at Harrisburg on the 15th inst., in the 32d year of his age.

Wenzle Slavik, a Bohemian by birth, but lately a resident of Johnstown, committed suicide by shooting himself on Wednesday last.

The barn of C. R. Lose, of Derry township, near Latrobe, was entered on Monday night by sneak thieves who broke into the granary where a large stock of grain and flour was kept. They carried off a considerable amount of flour.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Saylor, of Tod township, Huntingdon county, celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding on the 10th inst. About 100 invited guests were present, among them six who were at the wedding fifty years ago. They have lived forty nine years on the same farm, and there has never been a death in the family, which consists of the aged and respected couple and three daughters.

Everett Republican. Among the many surprises which the election developed and which we have failed to note, is the fact that part of the republican ticket was elected in Fulton county—yes, even Fulton county. Our hitherto steadfast democratic little neighbor county will be represented in the next legislature by a republican, in the person of D Hunter Patterson, of Webster Mills, who defeated L. C Kelly by 177 majority. She will also have a republican district attorney in the person of F. McN. Johnston, who defeated McC. D. Skinner, brother of Pension Agent Skinner and junior editor of the Fulton Democrat, by the narrow margin of twenty-four votes.

Blasts from Ram's Horn.

Do you ever pray for people you talk about?

The devil joins churches somewhere every Sunday.

A starving man will not find fault with the table cloth.

People who hunt for faults seldom find anything else.

There are some very good people who love to tell bad news.

Some people stop praying the minute they put their hands on money.

It is much easier to be contented without wealth than it is with it.

A lie is the meanest thing the devil ever turned loose among men.

The surest way to get a man to pay right is to get him to pray right.

Whenever a lazy man looks towards Heaven the angels close the windows.

The devil seldom puts on mourning when a stingy man joins the church.

You can't keep people from wasting water by throwing stones at the pump.

Egotism always looks at his "neighbor" through the wrong end of the telescope.

There is now and then a man in the church who is afraid the devil is being slandered.

Church members who never smile will some day find out how much harm they have done.

It is remarkable how many different kinds of fish can catch when he baits his hook with money.

A Movable Line.

The Falls Creek Herald notes how the boundary of Clearfield and Jefferson counties is juggled with as follows: A couple of weeks ago Sidney Fuller had the county line moved a few feet in order to make room for another row of town lots, and this week those who are interested on the other side of the line have had it moved back again. This line has been moved and shifted around until it has become a sort of a slack wire arrangement. This continued moving around is very liable to break the line and then the two counties will run into each other and become terribly mixed up.

"Pansy Blossom" Disappears.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Nov. 25.—Walter H. Butler, who had been principal of the Normal College at Oelwein for some time, disappeared last Thursday and since that time he has not been seen or heard of. Mr. Butler was formerly editor of one of the leading newspapers of Fayette county, and four years ago ran on the Democratic ticket for Congress in the Fourth District and was elected. He became famous in Congress by the introduction of a resolution to make the pansy the national flower, since which time he has been known as "Pansy Blossom" Butler.

Pennsylvania's Coal Output.

The report of the inspectors of mines of Pennsylvania, which has just been issued in the form of a bound volume of upward of 530 pages, contains many interesting details in regard to the coal business of this state. The total production of anthracite is given as 48,179,563 tons for the year 1893, while of bituminous it is said that 42,421,898 tons were produced. The coke is put at 5,549,296 tons.

The number of employes is put down at 218,821. The fatal accidents number 586 and the non fatal 1,415. One of the noticeable features is the small number of days on which the men about the mines, either anthracite or bituminous, are employed.

CENTRE COUNTY INSTITUTE

When It will be Held and Who the Instructors Will Be.

County Superintendent C. L. Gramley has completed his arrangements for the 48th annual teacher's institute of Centre county and the same will be held in the Court House, Bellefonte during the week of December 17th to 21st. There are now almost three hundred teachers in this county and it is expected that every one will be present. The following corps of instructors have been engaged for the occasion:

Hon. Henry Houck, deputy superintendent public instruction; Dr. A. S. Draper, president University of Illinois; Dr. A. E. Winship, editor of the Journal of Education, Boston, Mass.; Dr. George W. Atherton, president Pennsylvania State College, State College, Pa; Prof. Chas. H. Albert, state normal school, Bloomsburg, Pa.; Prof. C. J. Swift, ex-superintendent Elk county, Pa.; Hon. Stockton Axeon, representing the American society for the extension of University teaching; Prof. Charles Lose, Philipsburg, Pa.

The evening entertainments will be as follows: Monday evening, "Bound to Win," Hon. Henry Houck; Tuesday evening, "Conversers and orators," Dr. A. E. Winship; Wednesday evening, "The Spirit of the Teacher," Dr. A. S. Draper; Thursday evening, "Patrick Henry," Dr. L. I. Handy, of Newark, N. J.

Thursday, the 20th, will be "Director's Day," when the two hundred or more school directors of Centre county will meet in their annual session in the High School room, brick building, at 10 o'clock a. m., to transact any business that might come before them. Interesting and instructive addresses will be made by prominent speakers.

The New Armory.

Now that the new armory is about completed Bellefonters might like to know something about what it will be like. It is two stories high, or fifty feet from the foundation to the dome of the roof. The lower story is built of rough limestone and the second story of rough-faced brick. It is 80 feet wide by 120 feet long and, when completed will be one of the most spacious armories in Central Pennsylvania. It will be completely furnished throughout so that on occasions it can be used as a town concert hall. There will be a large gallery at the east end and a commodious [illegible] the west end.

There will be private rooms in front and rear for officers' quarters and reception and dressing rooms. The building will cost, when fully completed, about $25,000. It will be heated with steam and lighted with electricity and gas, and fully seated throughout with comfortable chairs. The lower story will contain six large, commodious store rooms, facing on Lamb street. The main entrance to the Armory will be on Spring street. The building will be entirely completed, dedicated and turned over to the company December 14th.

Col. W. Fred Reynolds, the builder of the armory, is a son of the late Hon. Samuel Reynolds, deceased, of Lancaster, and a nephew of the late Major William F. Reynolds, deceased, of this place. By the death of his uncle less than two years ago, he fell heir to the bulk of his fortune, about a half a million dollars, and he is noted now as one of the most progressive and public-spirited citizens of the town. He is aged about 33 years, is married and has one child. Mr. Reynolds was appointed by Governor Pattison about two years ago as a member of his staff, with the rank of Colonel.

Democrats Will be Scarce.

The Harrisburg Patriot says: The official returns to the State Department from all the legislative districts of the commonwealth indicate that the Democrats will have only twenty-eight of the 304 members of the next House of Representatives. The Republicans will have 148 majority in the House and thirty-six in the Senate, or 134 on joint ballot. Of the twenty-eight Democrats in the House the three Representatives of the Pennsylvania Democracy elected in Philadelphia in the Second, Third and Fourth districts of Philadelphia by Republicans are included. The Democrats have elected one Representative in Adams, three in Berks, two in Clarion, two in Columbia, one in Elk, one in Greene, two in Luzerne, one in Lycoming one in Mifflin one in Munroe, one in Montour, two in Northampton, four in Philadelphia, one in Pike, one in Schuylkill and four in York. Representatives Broughal, Democrat, of Northampton, was defeated for re-election by only four votes.

He Broke the Glass.

The editor of the Falls Creek Herald thus tells of an incident happening on the train a few days ago in York State: In the end of nearly all passenger cars in York State, there is an ax and saw in a glass case, with instructions to "break the glass in case of accident." An old farmer, who had evidently not done a great deal of traveling, entered the train at a little town, and after he had taken his seat, picked up a paper and commenced to read. He was reading the account of a horrible accident on one of the Western roads, when his eye caught sight of the glass case with a sign on to "break glass in case of accident." The farmer proceeded at once to break the glass, and when the conductor came around and demanded an explanation, the farmer showed him the account of the accident in the paper and said that he had only been following instructions.

Peace Sunday.

The Christian Arbitration and Peace Society calls the attention of Pastors, Sunday-School Superintendents and Teachers to Peace Sunday, the third Sunday in December, namely December 16th. This anniversary was inaugurated by the Peace Congress and is being more and more faithfully observed in England and America.

Information and matter for sermons and addresses will be cheerfully sent gratuitously from the Philadelphia Office of the Society, 310 Chestnut street, to any who will make request therefor.

At the Oil Well.

County Treasurer McCrea and County Commissioner Knecht returned last evening from the gas and oil well. The drillers up to this time have bored through courses of sand and beds of rock similar to the wells that gushe larged quantities of oil in the oil counties. The next change of sand they expect to reach when down about 1,800 feet.

The Karthaus Times says of the Salt Lick region that it is the opinion of experienced men from the upper oil region that this place will, in the future, be the great oil producing centre of Pennsylvania and will rival the northern counties in both oil and gas.

—Prof. S. A. Reeser, of Franklin, Pa., a noted elocutionist, gave a fine program of readings and recitations in Milesburg Friday evening. The selections rendered were ten in number, and included humorous as well as pathetic. At times the audience was convulsed with laughter, and again were bathed in tears. We have not the time and space necessary to give the extended notice the merit of the entertainment deserves, but must be content with simply saying that it was first-class in every respect and well worth going to hear.

Quail Scarce.

With comparatively few exceptions hunters have not bagged great quantities of quail this season, in spite of the stocking of birds from western states made last spring. Various are the theories advanced to account for the scarcity of the quail. Some believe them still about, but think them greater adepts at concealing themselves, as they are much faster runners than the native quail, while a good many think the heavy snow that fell last February after the imported birds were out killed many of them.

An Embarrassing Fix.

A story is told of a young man just over the border in a neighboring county that might have been serious instead of ludicrous. He paid a visit to his best girl, and while getting out of his buggy both suspender buttons of the rear of his trousers gave way. To prevent embarrassment a couple of matches were substituted for the treacherous buttons, and all went well until by friction against the back of the chair the matches become ignited. A conflagration was narrowly averted and the young man is not over his fright yet.

CHARGED WITH PERJURY.

An Alleged Incendiary Implicates a Pittsburg Detective in an Effort to Make Him Bear False Witness.

Greensburg, Pa., Nov. 21.—In court today the indictment against Frank Shearer for setting fire to A. C. Davis's slaughter house was quashed on the ground that it was found by the August Grand Jury, which was illegally drawn, and further proceedings against Shearer are stopped by the statute of limitation. The indictments against the negro Wright, who made one confession that he burned the Davis property at the instance of Shearer, was also quashed, but there is more trouble for him.

He has just made another sworn statement, in which he says that the detective, Camp, of Pittsburg, frightened him into implicating Shearer, and that he was given $5 to say that Shearer hired him to do the burning. The detective told him, he says, while on his way from Washington county, where he was arrested, that enough evidence had already been procured to convict him (Wright) of the crime, and unless he would say that Frank Shearer had a hand in the burning, he would probably get 15 years in the penitentiary. Otherwise he would in all probability go free. The negro says he was frightened, and fearing severe punishment, although he knew he was innocent, he told the story as dictated by his captor.

When the presence of the new confession was made known to the attorneys for the prosecution they gave notice that Wright would be held for perjury, and accordingly information was made against him. Shearer claims besides to have evidence of attempted bribery of other persons by A. C. Davis, the prosecutor, in the case, and stated to-night civil proceedings will be entered at the proper time against the Pittsburg detective and Mr. Davis for damages for defamation of character and false arrest.

Three Passengers Injured.

Pittsburg, November 21.—At 11 o'clock this morning an electric car of the Centre avenue branch of the Central Traction company became unmanageable on a heavy Wylie avenue grade and dashed into a Wylie avenue cable car, just ahead, with terrific force. Three lady passengers were injured, one seriously. The motorman of the electric car, who stood at his post, was also seriously injured. The injured were: Mrs. H. C. Jones, resided at No. 508 Webster avenue, jaws broken and face burned by falling against the stove; Miss Rosa Brown, arms gashed and bruised; young lady, no name given, cut on head; Harvey Ray, gripman on cable car, injured arms and back. The electric car was a complete wreck.

Japan Declines With Thanks.

Washington, November 21.—Secretary Gresham has received a reply of the Japanese government to the offer of mediation made by our government between Japan and China. While Secretary Gresham declines at present to give out the text of the reply received from Minister Dun, the United States representative at Tokio, the nature of that reply has been distinctly known in Washington for several days, and has been plainly foreshadowed in United Press dispatches. It is well known that Japan has courteously declined the offer of the United States and declares that in view of its successive victories, overtures of peace must come from China.

One Report Nearly Completed.

Washington, Nov. 21.—Postmaster General Bissell has nearly completed his annual report for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1894, and it will be presented to the president in a few days. It contains several novel suggestions and recommendations on certain lines of the postal service which, if acted upon favorably, will have an important permanent bearing upon the efficiency and revenue of the department.

The secretary of the interior to-day drew his warrant on the secretary of the treasury for $10,770,000, to be used in payment of pensions.

Was Shot Dead.

Shamokin, Pa., Nov. 21—Samuel Franklin was shot dead this morning by Wm. Taylor. Taylor escaped to the mountains and a posse is searching for him. The men were miners and both worked at the Scott shaft. Ill blood existed between them for some time and when on last Saturday night Taylor learned that Franklin threatened to kill him on sight he armed himself. When the men met to-day they both drew revolvers and began firing. Franklin fired one shot as the first ball from Taylor's weapon struck him on the hand in which he held his revolver. Three other balls pierced his body and he fell dead.

J. L. Showers, the forger, whose home is in Rauchtown, and who fleeced Landlord Esterline, of this city, and men in many other places, is still in the Bellefonte jail. From the Johnstown Democrat we learn that Jacob Snell, aged 9 years son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Snell, of Brownstown, was run over by a cable coal train on the Cambria Iron company's tramroad, a short distance below the stone bridge, Tuesday afternoon, and his left foot was so badly mangled that amputation below the knee was necessary.

An action was filed in the United States district court, Pittsburgh, by Assistant United States Attorney Samuel B. Griffith last Monday against John A. Troxell, late postmaster at Portage, Cambria county, as principal and Philip Hopper and Benjamin Miller as sureties on his bond. The charge is that Troxell embezzled $65.49 is postal accounts and $370.56 in money order accounts during his term, and that he still refuses to make the sum good to the government.

A correspondent of the Newton Hamilton Watchman says: The site of Fort Shirley is to be suitably marked by a tablet erected by the state, the preliminaries having been recently arranged. Harry Peoples, clerk in the bank at Johnsonburg, Clinton county, son of Professor, J. M. People, of Lock Haven, was found dead in his bed yesterday morning, with two bullet wounds in his head. It is thought to have been a case of suicide.

Mrs. John C. Barton, of Punxsutawney last week buried her youngest son, who had died of diphtheria. Seeking a change and rest she visited her parents in DuBois. She became ill at that place with the same disease and on Wednesday night died. She was 29 years old.

William Powell left Sunbury several weeks ago to hunt work, leaving his wife and five children there until he secured a job. Mrs. Powell has not heard from him since and thinks that he was one of two unknown men killed about a week ago in the freight wreck near Drifton.

Mrs. Clement Dale, of this place, departed on Saturday evening for a visit with friends in Philadelphia.

ANOTHER SENSATION.

The Perry County Bank Springs Another on the Public.

New Bloomfield, Pa., November 21.—A sensation was sprung this afternoon in the trial of the officers of the Perry County bank. James Willis, the cashier of the concern, was put on the stand by the commonwealth, and he sworn that the bank had been insolvent for the past twenty years and that not only were Sponsler and Junkin acquainted with the standing of the bank, but that he had bimself repeatedly advised them of its condition.

Cross-examination developed the fact that when Willis was promoted from a clerkship to cashier, his sole recommendation to the president by a son of the officers was that he was one of the best in the country. It was also shown that Willis had been offered immunity by the prosecution to make an accurate statement of what he knew of the affairs of the bank, and that on the other hand, the defense had threatened him in case he should testify against them. The first official exhibit of the liabilities of the wrecked bank in excess of all assets was made to-day and shows the amount to be $113.280.

What a Mob Proposed Doing.

Columbus O., Nov. 21.—A striking and important piece of evidence was presented to the Colonel Colt court of inquiry today. It was a basket containing forty sticks of dynamite that was found concealed near the court house the morning after the rioting at Washington Court House. The find was kept a secret until to-day. It confirms the report that the rioters after the shooting planned to blow up the court house troops and all.

Colonel Colt was warned of this by telephone messages, and placing troops in the balconies of the buildings, he ordered them to halt all persons attempting to approach the court house that night and to fire upon anyone who refused to stop. Several shots were fired on persistent skulkers and then all the rioters disappeared. It now seems probable that this precaution prevented the angry mob from destroying the troops.

Grafting the Potato on the Tomato.

When the potato is grafted on the tomato, which can be done by reason of the close relationship between the two plants, the potato roots continue to produce potatoes, while the tomato grafted on the potato stalk continues to produce tomatoes. This is considered in some of the agricultural papers as remarkable that one plant should produce two different kinds of products; but it is no more remarkable than all other experiences in grafting. A pear may be grafted on the quince, but the roots are still quince roots, although the pear comes from the grafted portion. There have been cases known where the graft will influence the stock, but to such a slight degree as not to materially alter its character.—Meehan's Monthly.

New Freight Business.

The Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg company has made a contract for hauling the ore from Buffalo to Clearfield for the Bellefonte furnace. The concern uses Lake Superior ore, which is brought by water to Buffalo. About 400 car loads are expected at Buffalo this week, and an average of 100 cars a week is to follow. As the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg road has a fine eastern outlet through Pennsylvania in the Beech Creek system, this should be but the beginning of a good southward business from the lakes to the iron mills. The ore will be carried from Mill Hall to Bellefonte over the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania.

A printer by the name of John Hodges and carrying a card which entitles him to membership in the Typographical union of Columbus, O., came into the office of the Lewistown Free Press last Thursday and stole a composing stick. THE PASTILLE CURE FOR NERVOUS DEBILITY TRADE MARK

Prof. HARRIS' SOLUBLE MEDICATED Pastille

Has been put up in a proprietary form since 1878, and has been used for years prior to that time in private practice. It is no untried nostrum, of doubtful reputation, but a genuine specific for a very prevalent disease. Thousands of men, of all ages, have at some time in life brought on nervous debility and exhaustion, with organic weakness, by over brain work, excesses, too frequent indulgence or indiscretion and vicious habits, and it is to these that we offer a remedy that will, by its direct action upon the seat of the disease, stop the drain and restore the patient to vigorous health and strength.

Our method of introducing Prof. Harris' Pastille treatment is one which commends itself to all sensible persons—for the reason that we supply it upon their judgment of its value. We ask of our patrons nothing in the way of expense beyond a postal card and a two cent postage stamp. The postal card to be used in sending us their full address and the postage stamp for the letter returning the statement of their case for which we supply them with a question blank, to be filled out and an envelope addressed to ourselves for use in returning it when filled.

FREE TRIAL PACKAGE. When we receive the statement on blank we prepare eight days' treatment and forward it by mail and prepay postage thereon—and along with the eight days' treatment we send full directions for using. The treatment in no way interferes with a person's attention to business, and causes no pain or inconvenience in any way.

We are so positive that it will give perfect satisfaction that we leave the matter of sending orders entirely with those using the free trial treatment. Having satisfied those sending for trial packages of our ability to benefit their sexual condition we feel sure that they are more largely interested than we expect in continuing the use of the Pastilles. Even when we do not attempt to rob them by demanding high prices. On the contrary, we make the prices as low as possible, and the same to all. They are as follows: $3 for one month; $5 for two months; $7 for three months.

Trade Mark.

These prices secure the delivery of the Pastilles by mail. If desired by express we leave the patient to pay the charges. For over ten years we have operated our business upon this plan with satisfactory results. We ask all persons needing treatment for any of the secret ills which come to mankind through violation of nature's laws to send us their address on a postal card or by letter and allow us to convince them that PROF. HARRIS' SOLUBLE MEDICATED PASTILLES have just what they need.

THOSE ARMENIAN OUTRAGES.

Letters Received in Boston Which Go to Confirm the Reports.

Boston, November 26.—Those private letters received in Boston to-day from the highest authorities in such matters—but not from Armenians—confirm the incomplete reports of massacres by the Turks.

Bitlis, September 26.—Troops have been massed in the region of the large plain near us. Some sickness broke out among them which took off two or three victims every few days. It was a good excuse for establishing the quarantine around with its income from bribes, charges, and the inevitable raise in the already dear grain.

I suspect that one reason for placing quarantine was to hinder the information as to what all these troops were about in that region. There seems little doubt that there has been repeated in the region back of Moosh atrocities like that which took place in '77 in Bulgaria. The sickening details are beginning to come in. As in that case it has been the innocent who have been the greatest sufferers. Forty-eight villages are said to have been wholly blotted out.

Bitlis, October 3.—No letter for Harport this week, but things have been moving on here and you may be interested to know how matters are. A letter from——— of Moosh yesterday, shows that indeed a virulent form of cholera is spreading in that city. From twenty-five to thirty-five deaths a day occur. As the time goes on the extent of the slaughter seems to be confirmed as greater than was at first supposed. Six thousands is a low figure; it is probably nearer ten. Mr. Halward, the new consul at Van, has gone directly there and it is said that the other consuls from Erzroom have also been sent to investigate matters. The government tried to get the people here to sign an address to the sovereign, expressing satisfaction with this rule, disclaiming sympathy with the Armenians who have "stirred matters up," stating that the thousand slain in Talvereeg met their just deserts and that the four outsiders captured should be punished; expressing regret that it had been thought best to send consuls to investigate, and stating that there was no need for their coming. The Armenians here have not yet signed it; though in four districts similar papers have been secured properly sealed.

A Mean Highwayman.

Sunbury Daily: While walking from Shamokin to her home in Cameron township late Thursday afternoon Miss Susie Derr was held up by an unknown highwayman and robbed of all her money. Miss Derr is an elderly lady and had been to the coal metropolis on a shopping expedition and carried a number of bundles. Shortly after she passed the Henry Clay culm banks a man stepped out of the bushes and pulling a revolver demanded her cash. He was young, stout, and had a handkerchief tied over the lower portion of his face to conceal his identity. The lady told the robber that she did not have a cent with her and was promptly informed that she must either produce her money at once or he would shoot. Miss Derr then gave him the contents of her pocket book and he jumped into the bushes and disappeared just as the mail carrier from Gowen City came driving along.

Where Outlawry Reigns.

Fort Smith, Ark., November 26.—Indian Agent Wisdom and ex-Indian Agent Bennett, both of Muskogee, have arrived from the bandit-infested part of the territory. At Wagoner they were notified that the freight train just ahead of them had been fired into near Bragg station, which is thirty miles east of Wagoner. Investigation proved the report to be true. Seven men, mounted on horses and armed to the teeth, undertook to hold up the train in broad daylight, but the engineer and fireman lay down in the cab and let the train go ahead. A volley of bullets was fired at the cab and as the caboose went by that also was fired into and riddled with bullets. The bandits sat on their horses, four on one side of the track and three on the other. The train came through without molestation.

Think Pitzel is Alive.

Philadelphia, November 26.—The officers of the Fidelity insurance company are now as firm in their belief that Pitzel is alive as they were formerly that he was dead. President Fouse said to-day that Pitzel had been traced to New York city and that Inspector Gary, of the company, would go there to-morrow and endeavor to locate him. It is hoped to run Pitzel down by means of the $100 bill that were given him by Holmes in his share of the money obtained from the insurance company. It was thought that Pitzel may have tried to change these bills in New York city for one of smaller denomination and a tour of the money brokers offices will be made for the purpose of learning if he has been around among them. President Fouse also says that the missing Pitzel children are known to have been at Niagara Falls but his reasons for this belief he would not give.

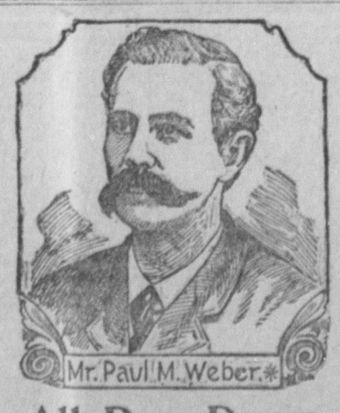
For Mothers' and Daughters' Health.

Weak, nervous, delicate, overworked women are the ones that need a strength builder, a tonic for their nerves, and a cure for that awful internal trouble that is wearing out their lives. Thousands of women have found such in Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. Mrs. Christiana Beal, of Jonesport, Me., writes that her daughter had been a great sufferer from female trouble, and after repeated trial of doctor's prescriptions and other so-called cures, all of which gave no relief, she used Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy and it permanently cured her.

If you have headache, uterine catarrh, irregular menstruation, leucarrhœa, or irregular monthly periods, sickness incidental to change of life, or any of the attending evils that are present in female complaints, use Favorite Remedy; it will build up quickly the run down constitution and bring refreshing sleep. It will dispel those tired looks and feelings, restore the nervous system and permanently cure you. Our daughters grow up weak and delicate; mother can avoid such conditions by giving them Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy.

On a Saturday while T J Briggs was putting a new roof on his home in Shirleysburg, Huntingdon county, he accidentally left his hatchet fall and it struck his daughter Annie, who was in the yard, on the right arm, inflicting an ugly gash. It was a narrow escape from death, as the hatchet fell within a few inches of her head.



All Run Down

Always Tired, Sleepless and Without Appetite

Blood Vitalized and Strength Renewed by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

to go around or work and in fact was not able to do a good day's work. I happened to pick up a circular embracing advertisements and testimonials for Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after reading them decided to give Hood's Sarsaparilla a trial. I have taken five bottles and must say that I have derived wonderful benefit from it and

What Ails My Nerves.

They Are Almost Driving Me Crazy.

THEY WON'T LET ME WORK AND THEY SPOIL MY PLEASURE.

Here Is a Way to Have Nerves Like Steel. Just read This.

Thousands of people feel this way. Their nerves are weak and irritable, they pass sleepless nights; waking in the morning, tired and unrefreshed, with bad taste in the mouth, and dull feeling head. They feel nervous, blue and discouraged, often having a sense of anxiety and apprehension, as some impending danger.

They feel they have lost their nerve power and much of their energy and ambition. They often declare themselves as "feeling just good for nothing." This was so with Mrs. N. H. Clark, a prominent and well-know lady of Moretown, Vt. She writes the following unusually interesting letter:

"For some time I have been fearfully prostrated with nervous weakness. I was continually without strength and unable to do my work. I was completely tired out, and my nerves were so weak I was good for nothing.

"I could not sleep nights I was so weak and nervous and when I arose in the morning, I was as tired as when I went to bed, and sometimes even more so. I was entirely used up and miserable. I had no appetite, and the little food I could eat distressed me awfully.

"I had a constant fear and dread that something was going to happen. I also had a cough and bronchitis. I employed doctors and took medicines constantly, but without benefit. At this time a friend who had used Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and been cured by it, advised me to try it.

MRS. N. H. CLARK.

"I had not used the first bottle when I could plainly see more good results than from all the other medicines I had ever before taken. The good I derived from this most wonderful medicine was marvelous.

"I can sleep well and my nerves are strong and quiet. My appetite is good I heartily recommend Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy to everybody for I believe it to be the best medicine I have ever found, and a great boon to man kind."

You who are sick and suffering just remember this; Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is the medicine that cures, and it is exactly what you want. There are countless numbers of persons in just this condition. They are not sick with any particular diseases, but are out of order, have weak nerves and tired bodies. They have lost their snap and energy, and work becomes an effort.

You need Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It will cure you. It is purely vegetable and harmless, and is the discovery of Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th Street, New York, the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic disease. He can be consulted free, personally or by letter.

Use it in Time.

Catarrh starts in the nasal passages, affecting eyes, ears and throat, and is in fact, the great enemy of the mucous membrance. Neglected colds in the head almost invariably precede catarrh causing an excessive flow of mucus, and if the mucous discharge becomes interrupted the disagreeable results of catarrh will follow, such as bad breath, severe pain across forehead and about the eyes, a roaring and buzzing sound in the ears and often times discharge. Ely's Cream Balm is the acknowledged cure for this trouble.

FIFTY TWO DIVIDENDS.

As a general thing investors are pleased to receive only two dividends a year, and if they are paid with regularity are fully satisfied. When one, however, can receive fifty-two dividends in a year upon an investment of only three dollars, the matter deserves very serious attention.

THE INDEPENDENT of New York for forty-six years has held the first position among the great religious literary and family weeklies of the land. It presents features for the coming year far in advance of any heretofore offered. It has the leading contributors of the world, it prints the best poetry, it has twenty-one departments, edited by specialists, devoted to Fine Arts, Science, Insurance, Finance, Biblical Research, Sunday-School Missions, Health, etc. THE INDEPENDENT is particularly fitted for intelligent people, whether professional men, business men or farmers, and for their families. It costs but six cents a week and gives a great deal. A subscriber fifty two dividends a year.

The subscription price of THE INDEPENDENT is only three dollars a year, or at that rate for any part of a year, and a sample copy will be sent to any person free by addressing THE INDEPENDENT, New York City.

CHINAMEN QUARREL.

In Philadelphia and One was Mortally Wounded.

Philadelphia, Nov. 26.—The first quarrel with a tragic ending that has ever occurred in this city between Chinamen took place this afternoon in the grocery store of Lee Hung Quong, at 926 Race street, when the proprietor was shot in the head and mortally wounded by Lee Gon Yeum, the proprietor of a laundry. Quong was about 54 years of age and is one of the most influential residents of Chinatown. He was known as "judge" and his countrymen have referred to him for settlement many of the disputes that arose between them.

Recently Lee Gon was arrested for writing scandalous letters. Quong interested himself in the man's behalf and spent considerable money in his defense. Yesterday he heard that Lee Gon was negotiating to sell his laundry and he called upon him to day and tried to recover some of the money that he had spent in his behalf. The "judge" was unsuccessful in his efforts to collect any money from the man he had befriended and a violent quarrel occurred between them. The "judge" returned home and Lee Gon remained in his shop brooding over the quarrel.

This afternoon he started for the judge's store, and on his way bought a revolver and a box of cartridges. He found the judge in his grocery store and the quarrel was renewed. Passers-by on Race street were startled by four shots and Lee Gon ran out of the store and down the street. He only got a short distance, however, when he was arrested. Of the four shots fired at the judge but one took effect, and that struck him in the head, inflicting a fatal wound. The man was taken to the hospital and it is said he can hardly live until morning. In addition to his commanding position among his countrymen, Lee Hung Quong was known to fame as the only Chinamen in Philadelphia having a Chinese wife and two almond-eyed children.

THE opening chapters in Professor Sloane's new Life of Napoleon in The Century are full of surprises to those who know of the youth of Napoleon only by a few well-know stories—like that, for instance, of the battle of the snow forts at Brienne. It is a new Napoleon that is here presented, a devourer of books, the unsuccessful literary aspirant, an ineffectual Corsican political agitator—but the new Napoleon certainly makes the old Napoleon much more easily comprehended.

Pure blood is absolutely necessary in order to enjoy perfect health. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood and strengthens the system.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. J. F. KINCHELOE, Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

The Golden Star

Gold Mining Company

OF MONTANA.

Capital $300,000 divided into 300,000 shares of $1 par value each.

Non-assessable forever.

This company owns two gold mines located in a county which produced $40,000,000 in gold in six years. Has 45 acres of virgin land. Has 500 feet of underground work in shape of shafts and tunnels. Has ore in sight worth $100 per ton. Has assays from $25 to $1,500 per ton. Has shipped ore netting $36 per ton. Has such a small capitalization, only 300,000 shares and not 2,000,000 shares as other companies.

The company intends to sink a shaft through this rich $100 ore vein to a depth of several hundred feet, in order to be able to produce largely for the benefit of the stockholders which will get this profit in large monthly dividends. Hence the company offers a small amount of its stock at the extremely low price of 35 cents a share.

These shares are the investment on the financial market to-day and are better than Government Bonds as they will pay bigger interest.

Dear Public:

The People Have Made a Clean Sweep.

I am not the son of a prophet, but I wish to make a prediction.

DEAR PUBLIC:—I wish to make a prediction, to wit: It will be many, many moons before this great nation again monkeys with its business interests for the sake of a theory. You heard the song of the whipporwill in the "gloaming" of last Tuesday. The people made a clean sweep, but not more so than the Eureka Grocery, with their Groceries which are fresh and pure, sweeping away all competition. We keep only the best and guarantee all goods to be pure and wholesome. Much depends on what we eat, whether we are fat or lean. Our groceries cannot be beat—our broom sweeps clean, and it is fresh, pure and wholesome goods that sweep the platter in the grocery business when you sell them at fair prices. We have everything in the grocery line. Call and see, High St., next door to post office.

Proprietor.

THE FARMERS' ENEMY.

If Grover Cleveland in the selection of a secretary of agriculture had searched this broad land over with the single purpose of finding and placing in power the worst American enemy of the American agriculturist, he could not have made surer work than in the selection of Secretary Morton, whose unrelenting hostility to the farmers of our country has already been abundantly proved. This extremely prejudiced and amazingly self opinionated officer has deliberately undertaken and is now earnestly prosecuting the work of breaking down the principles which have been established for half a century for the equalization of our agricultural interests with those of other great industries, and which reached their full maturity under the able administration of Mr. Morton's great predecessor. The scientific investigations made for the department and covering the available information obtainable throughout the world were a special feature of Secretary Rusk's work in so enlarging the scope of the department that there might come to the plain every day agriculturalist the scientific and practical information that would enable him to so conduct his work as to secure the best results. Mr. Morton used his first opportunity to contract and cripple this arm of the work and rendered the great expenditure which had been wisely made, under the authority and direction of congress, in its behalf almost useless.

Another glaring instance of Mr. Morton's maladministration is seen in his curtailment of the meat inspection service. The pretence made by foreign governments that American meats were diseased and unwholesome, under which they were denied admission to the markets of Europe, was one of the great obstacles that confronted Secretary Rusk at the beginning of his term of office. The problem was an old one, and its solution had been deemed hopeless, but through the energy of the secretary the system of meat inspection was so enlarged and extended that European buyers became satisfied that there was no longer a chance of their being imposed upon by the importation of unsound meat from America, and the restrictions were removed, the foreign markets opened to the products of our stock farms, and under the new impetus thus given our exportation of beef and pork was vastly increased, to our great profit.

One of the first and worst acts Mr. Morton found it possible to accomplish was the curtailment of this meat inspection, and by this means he has been and is engaged in wresting from our live stock interest the protection thrown around it by General Rusk, and we are again laid open to the charge of foreign governments that we are nursing pleuro-pneumonia and other dread diseases, so we have every reason to fear that we shall soon again be confronted by the fact that the ports of entry in France and Germany are closed against our beef and pork, which means a loss only to be estimated in millions.

The farmers of Pennsylvania will soon be called upon to endorse the acts of Secretary Morton at the ballot box. Indorsing Morton condemns Rusk.

ANALYSIS OF PROTECTION.

The first thought that comes up in any candid inquiry about it is that protection is natural and in accord with the habits of men. It prevails in the family as regards its relations with other families or with society. It pervades society as regards its relations of each part with every other. It characterizes the laws which guard the citizen from the dangers that spring from avarice, or crime, or negligence. It protects society as a whole against the injurious actions or aims of its component parts. It is applied not only to health and morals, but to property. The state covers all its subjects, in all their relations, with the panoply of protection and thereby aims to promote the greatest happiness of all. It is the very end for which governments are instituted: protection to the individual at home, and protection to the community from all adverse foreign forces whatever.

TOM REED'S OPINION.

Thomas B. Reed's opinion on the question of wages, as stated in his great speech against the Wilson bill in the house of representatives on Feb. 1, 1894, is pertinent and is in part as follows: "I confess to you that this question of wages is to me the vital question. To insure our growth in civilization and wealth we must not only have wages as high as they now are, but constantly and steadily increasing. In my judgment, upon wages and the consequent distribution of consumable wealth are based all our hopes of the future and all the possible increase of our civilization. The progress of this nation is dependent upon the progress of all. The fact that in this country all the workers have been getting better wages than elsewhere is the very reason why our market is the best in the world, and why all the nations of the world are trying to break into it."

IN WILSON'S DISTRICT.

Two Thousand Men in the Lumbering District Reduced Twenty Per Cent.

Last week 2,000 men employed in the lumbering industries and coal and coke works in the Second West Virginia district, where Hon. William L. Wilson is a candidate for congress, had their wages reduced 20 per cent. straight.

The reason assigned for the cut is the low prices, attributed directly to the operation of the new tariff law, which Mr. Wilson assured the London Chamber of Commerce was such a good thing for England. The 2,000 men who got the 20 per cent. reduction will certainly believe that Mr. Wilson told the truth in London

SHOULD INCREASE IMPORTS.

The effect of the passing of the tariff reform bill should lead to a large increase in the import trade of the republic, and this in its turn will not only benefit this country and other countries doing business with the United States, but it will also send a great deal more traffic over American railroads as a result of the increased shipments to the United States, and the activity in trade which it is anticipated will follow the adoption of Mr. Wilson's bill.—The Bullionist, Aug. 15, 1894.

It Hits The People and is Free.

Every ailing and suffering person who is wise will instantly accept this generous offer. Coming from the very highest authority, as it does, gives it the greatest weight, and people know when they see a good thing like this. Everybody knows Dr. Greene, the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, of 35 West 14th St., New York City. His successful system of treating patients through letter correspondence is attracting great attention. All you have got to do is this. Write him a letter about your complaint, tell him how you feel, and he will answer it, giving a thorough explanation of your case and telling the surest way to get well.

He gives most careful and explicit attention to every letter, and explains your case so comprehensively, that you understand immediately exactly what ails you, and just what to do for yourself. And for all this he makes no charge. He is also the discoverer of that remarkable medicine, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. This splendid offer is being taken advantage of by thousands, and they are getting well. The very best thing you can do, reader, is to write the doctor immediately, it will cost you nothing, and it will probably be the means of making you well and strong. Don't delay until it is too late, but write now.

THE LOSS ON FREE WOOL.

Before the inauguration of Grover Cleveland in 1893 Ohio XX wool sold for 30½ cents a pound. The same grade now sells for 18 cents. The lower grades have declined more in proportion. The wool clip for 1893 was 329,410,542 pounds, and excepting for Democratic success would have been much larger this year. The decline in wool represents an annual loss to the wool growers of $41,176,316, taking only the standard grade as the basis of estimate. But including the others the loss reaches over $45,000,000. The decline in the price of sheep represents a loss of $75,000,000. The loss on ranch property and on the rough and poorer portions of the 700,000 farms now used for grazing sheep has been estimated by Senator Dolph at $280,000,000. But leaving that out, and including the depreciation in the value of labor, and about $135,000,000 represent the loss this year to the wool growers as the result of the Democratic free wool crusade.

Can any living man point to any gain? The one branch of the woolen industry that was said to suffer most because of the duty on wool was the production of carpets. But we find in The Wool and Cotton Reporter and other trade journals of recent date the statement that "the mills are now running at about one-half capacity on small orders." That is the way free wool helps the carpet industry, although the tariff on the manufactured goods will not be reduced under the new law until next year. The big woolen mills at Centerville, N. J., have closed because they cannot now pay protection wages, even with free wool.

There has been a gain, however, to Canadians and other foreigners. The Wool and Cotton Reporter says that "manufacturers have shown little disposition to buy domestic stock, as they expect to get foreign wool much lower." The same journal reports that "interest on the part of the buyers has been mainly in foreign wools," and that in Boston "the sales of Australian wool have surpassed any previous record." Why? Because foreigners undersell the American wool growers even at present low prices.

That trade newspaper also reports that "some of our large Philadelphia wool houses have sent their buyers into Canada recently, and there has been some large blocks of wool taken up and conservative estimates are made that 1,000,000 pounds of Canadian wool have come to Philadelphia within the past two weeks." It appears therefore that the Australians and Canadians are receiving some benefit from the free wool tariff. But there is nothing except wailing and gnashing of teeth in the United States. A few foreign wool houses may increase their commissions, but that is all the gain so far visible here to compare with a direct yearly loss of $135,000,000 and an indirect loss that makes up another large sum.

A GOOD ENGLISH BILL.

There can be no doubt whatever that owing to the relief that has been given in the reduction or the total abolition of import duties will be of great advantage to many English manufacturers, and as a consequence to those whom they employ. Of course the advantage to England from the new tariff will be felt principally in the manufacturing centers, such as Bradford, Huddersfield and the neighborhood, where the McKinley tariff wrought so much harm. We may expect in Hull to gain something from increased shipment of goods, and so far as we can judge we shall not have long to wait. Among the free goods we find certain kinds of iron and steel, mineral waters, agricultural implements and machinery of various kinds, including threshing machines. This is good for England, because provision is made that there shall be a duty of 50 per cent. on these things if they are imported from countries that impose a duty on like articles from the United States. There ought under this clause to be at once an impetus in the manufacture of agricultural implements. Salt and tallow are also to be imported free. Woods of various kinds are to be imported without charge, and while some wools are exempted from duty, there are other kinds on which there is a great reduction, so that English manufacturers will be able to compete, as they did before the passage of the McKinley tariff, with their competitors in America.—Hull Daily News, Aug. 17, 1894.

MORE CONFIDENCE PRODUCERS.

Wherever the opportunity presents itself the people continue to help in the work of confidence producing so necessary to revive the business destroyed by the free traders. The latest confidence producing work was done in Connecticut last week, when the town and city elections were held, and where the returns disclosed sweeping Republican victories in almost every election district. There was just another such a Republican sweep as there was in Vermont, Maine and elsewhere where the people have secured a chance to assert themselves and show what they regard as the best method of restoring confidence.

In every case the method favored is the success of the candidates for office who are members of the party of protection, and it has made little difference to the people how far the offices have been removed from power to exert any influence in the work of drafting a national policy. They have gone on the principle that Republican success even in local offices could best indicate their opposition to the disastrous policy of free trade, and have voted for the candidates of the Republican party so near unanimously as to leave little of the free trade army in sight. That is exactly what they propose to do in Pennsylvania, and the signs are not wanting that Pennsylvanians will do it so generally as to attract as much attention their way as have the people of Maine, Vermont, Connecticut or elsewhere.

St. Nicholas

For Young Folks

Edited by Mary Mapes Dodge

FOR 1895.

The greatest year in the history of this magazine, now without a rival in its field, is the one just closing. Plans for the coming year assure even greater success than in the past.

RUDYARD KIPLING

wrote his famous "Jungle Stories" for St. Nicholas, and it is a welcome announcement that these will be continued in 1895.

NAPOLEON

FOR YOUNG READERS.

While the Century will have for its leading feature the new Life of the French Emperor by Prof. Sloane, one of the most popular of St. Nicholas writers takes his inspiration.

A Boy of the First Empire,

BY ELBRIDGE S. BROOKS,

is the story of a little lad from the streets of Paris (but of good family), who renders a service to Napoleon, and becomes one of his pages and finally an aide. He is with him in the most critical times of his life,—at the departure for Elba, in the glories of the life at Fontainebleau, and finally at Waterloo. The story glows with pageantry, and is a truthful and accurate account based upon the best authorities and verified by the latest information of the life of "the man of destiny" It is really a delightful story-history of Napoleon.

WEST POINT

AND MAN-OF-WAR LIFE

will recieve attention. Lieutenant Putnam writing of cadet life at the military academy while Ensign Elliott, of the flag-ship 'Chicago" will describe the experiences of our hardy seamen of the modern ships of war.

Inspiring Tales

FOR BOYS AND GIRLS.

Theodore Roosevelt will write a series to be called "Hero-Tales From American History" recounting famous deeds of heroism about which young people ought to know. Prof. Brander Matthews will include in his entertaining papers on "The Great American Authors" accounts of the lives of Bryant, Emerson, Longfellow, Hawthorne, Whittier, Poe and Lowell. Stories of famous horses in history and mythology—Bucepsalus, Napoleon's and Sheridan's horses, etc.—will be told by James Baldwin, author of "Stories From the Northern Myths." City fire departments will be treated, and there will be two or three papers on The Boys' Brigade. The serial stories will be many. One called "Chris and the Wonderful Lamp" recounts the wonderful adventures of a modern boy who became the accidental purchaser of Aladdin's lamp and summoned the jinn while cleaning it. A delightful story of college girls, "The Three Freshmen," will appeal to every girl; and "Teddy and Carrots," James Otis's serial of newsboy life, will be read by every boy. A serial story by Frances Courtney Baylor is one of the features.

PRICE of St. Nicolas is 25 cents a number or $3.00 a year. New subscriptions should begin with November, the first issue of the year. Subscribe through dealers, or remit by check, draft, or money order to

HARPER'S MAGAZINE.

In 1895

The Simpletons, a new novel by THOMAS HARDY, will be begun in the December Number, 1894 and continued to November, 1895. Whoever may be one's favorite among English novelists, it will be conceded by all critics that THOMAS HARDY stands foremost as a master artist in fiction, and The Simpletons may be expected to arouse enthusiasm not inferior in degree to that which has marked Trilby—the most sucessful story of the year. Another leading feature will be the Personal Recollections of Jona of Arc, by the Sieur Louis de Conte. Her page and Secretary, under which guise the most popular of living American magazine writers will present the story of the Maid of Orleans. In the January number will appear a profusely illustrated paper on Charleston and the Carolinas, the first of a series of Southern Papers.

Northern Africa is attracting more attention that at any other time since it was a seat of empires. The next volume of HARPER'S MAGAZINE will contain four illustrated articles on this region, and three of them will depict the present life there. JULIAN RALPH will prepare for the MAGAZINE a series of eight stories, depicting typical phases of Chinese Life and Manners. Besides the long stories, there will begin in the January Number the first chapter of A Three-Part Novelette, by RICHARD HARDING DAVIS—the longest work yet attempted by this writer. Complete short stories by popular writers will continue to be a feature of the MAGAZINE.

Send for Illustrated Prospectus.

The Volumes of the MAGAZINE begin with the Number for June and December of each year. When no time is mentioned, subscriptions will begin with the Number current at the time of receipt of order. Cloth cases, for binding, 50 cents each—by mail, postpaid. Title-page and index sent on application.

Remittance should be made by Post-office Money Order or Draft, to avoid chance of loss.

HARPER'S WEEKLY.

In 1895

HARPER'S WEEKLY is a pictorial history of the times. It presents every important event promptly, accurately, and exhaustively in illustration and descriptive text of the highest order.

The manner in which, during 1894, it has treated the Chicago Railway Strikes and the Chino-Japanese War, and the amount of light it was able to throw on Korea, the instant attention was directed to that little-known country, are examples of its almost boundless resources. Julian Ralph, the distinguished writer and correspondent, has been sent to the seat of war, and there joined by C. D. Weldon, the well known American artist, now for many years resident in Japan who has been engaged to co-operate with Mr. Ralph in sending to HARPER'S WEEKLY exclusive information and illustration.

During 1895 every vital question will be discussed with vigor and without prejudice in the editorial columns, and also in special articles by the highest authorities in each department. Portraits of the men and women who are making history, and powerful and caustic political cartoons, will continue to be characteristic features. This busy world, with its keen and kindly comment on the lesser doings of the day, will remain a regular department.

Fiction. There will be two powerful serials. [illegible] The Red Cockade, stirring romance of olden days by Stanley J. Weyman, and a novel of New York, entitled The Son of His Father, by Branders Matthews—several novelettes, and many short stories by popular writers.

HARPER'S BAZAR.

In 1895.

Elegant and exclusive designs for Outdoor and In door Toilettes, drawn from Worth models by Sandoz and Chaptus, are an important feature. These appear every week accompanied by minute descriptions and details. Our Paris Letter, by Katharine de Forest, is a weekly transcript of the latest styles and caprices in the mode. Under the head of New York Fashions, plain directions and full particulars are given as to shapes, fabrics, trimmings, and accessories of the costumes of the well-dressed women. Childrens Clothing receives partical attention. A fortnightly Pattern-sheet Supplement enables readers to cut and make their own gowns. The woman who takes HARPER'S BAZAR is prepared for every occasion in life, ceremonies or informal, where beautiful dress is requisite.

An American Serial, Doctor Warrick's Daughters, by Rebecca Harding Davis, a strong novel of American life, partly laid in the far South, will occupy the last half of the year.

My Lady Nobody, an intensely exciting novel, by Maarten Maartens, author of "Gods Fool," "The Greater Glory," etc., will begin the year.

Essays and Social Chats, To this department Spectator will contribute her charming papers on "What We are Doing" in New York society.

Thanksgiving, 1894.

To the friends of the Huntingdon Home for Orphan and Friendless Children :

Every Thanksgiving day for years past you have remembered the Home, and the managers feel that you will be willing to help "just a little" this year, when you have the fact brought to your knowledge that the needs of the Home are very pressing.

The hard times have brought more little ones under the care of the Home than ordinarily, and thus the expenses have been increased. And now at the beginning of the winter, the treasury is empty. The contributions last Thanksgiving were not quite sufficient to pay for the heating plant which was put in, and therefore the small surplus fund was exhausted in completing the payment for the heating,

A small contribution, as a Thanksgiving offering, from each friend of the Home is earnestly requested in order that the beneficial work may be continned. If the general community could realize what benefits and comforts are bestowed on many poor little child waifs, from day to day and from week to week, the number of friends to the Home would greatly increase.

Contributions can be sent to the Home, or to J. R. Simpson, Treasurer, Huntingdon, Pa.

Very Respectfully,
THE MANAGERS.

K. A. LOVELL, President.
HUGH LINDSAY, Secretary.
J. R. SIMPSON, Treasurer.

In Prison For Nodding.

Sunbury Daily: Albert Johnson, the well known Northumberland butcher, is in the county prison awaiting trial for disturbing the revival meeting that was held in the Northumberland Methodist church Monday evening. Albert says he nodded his head and the pastor, Rev. Leilich, called him to account for thus disturbing the meeting. The church trustees are the prosecutors and Justice George Fertig committed Albert. Albert attended the services while intoxicated and Rev. Leilich preached a stringing sermon on temperance. He emphasized his remarks by frequent gestures and at every gesture Albert would deliberately nod his head as if assenting to the excoration of drunkenness. Rev. Leilich asked Albert to quit nodding his head, but Albert kept on nodding, and he is in jail as a result of his nods.

Society Organized.

The young people of Pine Hall recently organized a society which shall be known as "The Young People's Literary and Music Circle," and elected the following officers: President, W. H. Knarr; vice president, Lizzie Fye: recording secretary W. E. Stover, corresponding secretary Lizzie Tyson; treasurer, W. D. Fye; musical director, Samuel Corl; executive committee, Minnie Tyson, Lizzie Corl and O. D. Corl. With these able officers and many energetic and capable members, the circle promises to be a factor for good in the community.

Crushed to Death.

On Tuesday morning Fred Burd, of Aaronsburg, a young man aged about 20 years, while hauling lumber for Wm. B. Haines, at Wolfe's Store, and in going down hill, attempted to draw the brake. While in the act of so doing his foot slipped and he fell to the ground, the heavily loaded wagon passing over him, crushing his right side so badly that he died the same night. Mr. Burd was a highly esteemed young man and had many friends in that place who will be sorry to learn of his tragic fate.

Attorneys to Organize.

A move is on foot to organize a state bar association, for which purpose a convention will be held in Harrisburg in January. This convention will be attended by many leading attorneys. One of the purposes of the association is to exert a healthy influence upon legislation by suggesting useful laws, by legislation in the defeat of ill considered and dangerous measures, and by aiding to mould into better shape bills good in substance but bad in form.

The McClure series of Napoleon papers and portraits will open in the November number of McCLURE'S MAGAZINE. There will be fifteen of the earliest portraits of Napoleon, some of them very rare, and seven of persons intimately associated with his career, accompanying the first installment of an anecdotal study of Napoleon by Miss Ida M. Tarbell. This installment deals especially with Napoleon's boyhood and youth. With this series of papers there will be in all seventy-five portraits of Napoleon.

That Perry County Bank Failure

New Bloomfield, Pa., November 22.—The astonishing statement was made today by President W. A. Sponsler, of the defunct Perry county, that he had never seen one of the bank statements since 1873.

At the opening of courts this morning ex Judge B F Jenkins was called to the stand and denied all knowlekge as to the insolvency of the bank or his personal insolvency.

This afternoon was devoted to the examination of W. A. Sponsler, late president of the defunct bank, who denied most emphatically all knowledge of the standing of the bank since 1873 He admitted the bank had lost heavily then, claiming that he had examined the books nor had been shown a statement of the bank's condition since that date. The testimony of both Sponsler and Junkin is in direct opposition so that of Cashier Willis.

Preserving our Mountain Resorts.

An incidental result of the inspection of the mountain and forest regions of Pennsylvania by Dr. Rothrock, of the State Forestry Commission, is in bringing to the notice of the public the important fact that Pennsylvania possesses one of the healthiest and most delightful mountain sections to be found in any State east of the Rocky Mountains. This section which extends from the Delaware to the Allegheny lacks none of the various attractions of mountain districts anywhere. Beautiful lakes, precipitous mountain sides, deep glens, sparkling waterfalls, lovely valleys, springs of the purest water compose only a part of the attractions of this section which render its preservation in something like its primitive condition a public necessity.

A few people visit the counties of Monroe, Pike and Wayne of the upper Delaware watershed every year, and a still smaller number spend the summer in the forest covered mountain resorts west of the Susquehanna. But the great mass of health seekers from our Pennsylvania cities throng to the mountain and seaside resorts of other States in sublime ignorance of the healthful and attractive resorts within their own State and near home. The few who seek health at the Delaware Water Gap and beyond are delighted with the beautiful scenery and the health-giving and invigorating atmosphere, but to the great mass of the city population of the Commonwealth it is a section as little known as the mountain chains of Alaska.

Unfortunately the discovery of the attractive forest and mountain sections of Pennsylvania is not all that is necessary to their enjoyment by those who live near at hand. Health and pleasure seekers from other States have been more enterprising in this direction and have not only visited but acquired large sections of the lake-studded and brook-threaded area of Northeastern Pennsylvania, and if nothing is done by the State to prevent, the time is not far distant when the Pennsylvania public will be entirely excluded ftom the most healthful and enjoyable summer resort sections of their own Commonwealth. The lakes and streams will be stocked with fish they are not allowed to angle for, and even the privilege of breathing the fresh mountain air and viewing the beauties of the landscape will be denied them.

This fact makes it imperative that the State should take prompt action to establish public forest reservations in the mountain watersheds of our principal rivers. Every year this is delayed will only increase the difficulty of securing the necessary land as well as the cost of its acquisition, and the Legislature should be prepared to treat with the most serious consideration the recommendations which will be made by the Forestry Commission in the report now in process of preparation.

Big Threshing.

A big job of threshing grain was done one day last week, at Muthersbachs, in Boalsburg, by John Tressler's separator. The result was 1166 bushels of wheat and oats, in nine hours work—and all good and clean grain. Two men did the handling of the sheaves, and no flies were on them while at it. Who can beat this?

ONE WOMAN'S REWARD.

A GREAT SHOWER OF CONFIDENCE

Such as Never Descended upon Any Other American Woman.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

IT'S a glorious possession.

The most famous physician wins it from a comparatively small number.

One woman, and only one, has won it from tens of thousands during the past twenty years.

Loving confidences, heartfelt gratitude, loyal devotion, is showered upon her name because of salvation from a miserable existence, and the peace and joy of restored health through her wonderful skill.

Lydia E. Pinkham's name will go down the ages as the friend of all women.

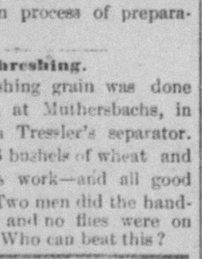
Her Vegetable Compound has saved thousands from the terrors of female complaints.

Backache, despondency, fainting, spinal weakness, avoiding society, bearing down, are all symptoms of trouble in the womb.

The Vegetable Compound removes the cause of the trouble.

Read what Mrs. S. W. White, who lives at 816 Holly Street, West Philadelphia, Pa., calls a family blessing.

Thus she writes to Mrs. Pinkham:—



"I have suffered for ten years with female complaints of the worst form, accompanied by severe spinal trouble, causing incessant backache, weakness of the stomach, and nervousness.

"I gave up all hope of ever being well again. Just then someone recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I followed your directions and treatment until I am now a perfectly well woman.

"I gave it to my two daughters, aged fourteen and sixteen years, and they are fine, healthy girls.

"It is surely a blessing to our family."

They Say.

That time is money ; but just now we would rather have money.

That appearances are deceitful, but disappearance are still more so.

That we should do lovely things not dream of them all day long.

That he who does not find other people entertaining is never entertaining himself.

That when a minister pronounces a man and woman one it is hard to decide which is that one.

That the man who always wears a flower in his buttonhole has a tender heart and clear conscience.

Beware of Ointments That Contain Mercury

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Obio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Messrs. Goodhart, Bumiller and Knarr, of this place, took a trip up the valley on their wheels on Thursday.

The Harrisburg Patriot's Fair book is one of the handsomest ever seen.

The Methodists of this place held a very impressive church service last Sunday evening.

Among those wno registered at the Musser House during the past few days are the following: C. H. Bright, Milton; John S. Walker, Harry Taylor, John A. Miller, Bellefonte; C. H. McFadden, Harrisburg, S. S. Bickel, Philadelphia, and a host of others.

Messrs. Snyder and Harvey Miller, performed a fine surgical operation on a sick chicken a few days ago. It was the taking out of the chicken's craw and removing therefrom a straw about three inches in length, after which the craw and chicken were sewed up and the bird now seems as well as ever.

The Dubbs faction of the Evangelical church held their first communion in this place last Sabbath. The services were very solemn and impressive.

Mr. J. P. Gephart, of Bellefonte, was in town Wednesday, looking up his property here.

Mrs. Lyde Corwin, of Renovo, is at present visiting Mrs. William Long, of this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallaoch, of New York, are at present visiting at the home of Mr. Emil Joseph. Mrs. Wallaoch, who was formerly Mrs. Heller, is a sister of Mrs. Joseph.

Warning to Expectant ... Mothers.

Many internal remedies are being skillfully and glibly advertised, professing to Shorten Labor, Lessen Pains of Childbirth, etc., and with wonderful inconsistency to regulate menstruation. Common sense should teach any woman that a preparation adapted for

will not prepare the system for Childbirth; on the contrary, INTERNAL REMEDIES at this time may imperil her life. We earnestly say BEWARE of all such; they cannot, at this critical period, do any possible good, and their use may prove fatal. It is only by persistent EXTERNAL treatment while enciente, thus relaxing and softening all the parts, that the hour of Child-birth is robbed of its terror; and no remedy on earth does this but

The CENTURY

IN 1895.

Taking advantage of the general revival of interest in the Great Emperor, The Century will print during 1895

A NEW LIFE OF NAPOLEON,
MAGNIFICENTLY ILLUSTRATED.

The Century is famous for its great historical serials, and never in its history has a greater one been projected than this new "Life of Napoleon," written by Prof. William M. Sloane, of Princton, who has spent many years in preparation for his work. Thus far no biography of "the man of destiny" has appeared in either English or French that is free from rancor and attentive to the laws of historical criticism. The Century has secured—the great all-round complete and interesting history of the life of one of the most marvelous of men. No matter how much you already know of Napoleon, you will want to read this—here is the concentration of all the lives and members. The illustrations will be magnificent—the wealth of the Century's art department will be lavished upon them. Two members of the staff have just returned from Paris, where have been securing all that is best of Napoleonic material. New portraits will be printed, great historical paintings reproduced, and Castaign and other modern artists have drawn anew some of the great scenes of Napoleon's life for this history.

In addition to this there will be

A NEW NOVEL BY MARION CRAWFORD.

The title is "Casa Braccio," and it is a romance of Italy full of human passion and exciting episode.

A NEW NOVEL BY
Mrs. Burton Harrison

will be published during the year. It is called "An Errant Wooing," and is a tale of wandering (and love) among new scenes of travel in Northern Africa and Southern Spain.

OTHER FEATURES

will be several familiar papers on "Washington in Lincoln's Time," by Noah Brooks, who was on terms of unusual intimacy with the war president; "The Cathedrals of France," by Mrs. Schuyler Van Rensselaer, with illustrations by Joseph Pennkil. Many more serials will be announced later.

RUDYARD KIPLING

contributes his first American story to the December number of the Century.

THE PRICE of the Century is $4.00 a year. "No home is complete without it." Begin subscriptions with November number. Whatever other magazines you may take, you must have the Century. All agents or dealers take subscriptions, or remittance may be made directly to LITTLE TROOPER.

QUICKSTEP.

A. FRENCELLI.

Copyright, 1894, by The New York Musical Record Co.

HE WAS TRUSTED.

But Now Book-Keeper Seely is a Fugitive From Justice.

New York, November 25.—The National Shoe and Leather bank at Broadway and Chambers street has been robbed of $354,900 by Samuel C. Seely, one of its book keepers, and Frederick Baker, a depositor. Seely fled a week ago Saturday, leaving a confession in his lawyer's hands. It is supposed that he fled by steamship.

Baker was drowned yesterday afternoon at his country home at Sand's Point. There is of course a strong suggestion of suicide. Baker, who was a supposedly wealthy and respectable lawyer in this city, past 60 years of age, had told his accomplice before the latter's flight that he was too old to run away himself and would stay and face the music. It is alleged by Seely that Baker got all but $354,000.

The Tribune will print to morrow the following: Frank W. Angel, counsel for S. S. Seely, the missing bank defaulter, was seen by a New York Tribune reporter this evening. He said: "If the man was drowned near Flushing, L. I., was Frederick R. Baker, (strongly emphasizing and dwelling upon the initial "R,") he was not Seely's accomplice. Mind you, I do not say that the conspirator's name was Baker at all. You say the drowned man was 65 or 70 years old. That was about the age of Seely's accomplice. The man is dead, isn't he? Well, you ought to be able to put two and two together and draw your own inference. The accomplice was old enough to have been Seely's grandfather and ought to have given him fatherly advice instead of ruining him.

"The defalcation, which began about nine years ago started, according to Seely's statement to me, through an honest mistake in bookkeeping, on his part, which enabled his accomplice to overdraw his account. Seely besought him to make good the amount, and he said he would as soon as he could realize on some real estate transactions. But the confederate, instead of realizing, induced Seely to allow other overdrafts, which Seely did in daily expectation that the promise to realize and make good the deficiency would be fulfilled. To conceal the overdraft, falsification of the books became necessary. As I understand, the confederate was able to keep his bank account by making bona fide deposits of say $200 or more at a time Seely, giving him credit for $1,200, and to conceal these false credit entries, would from time to time make transfers from other accounts.

"What became of the $343,000 which Seely assured me had been kept by his confederate is a mystery which may never be satisfactorily solved. I believe that the confederate invested the money in real estate threugh a 'dummy' and so thoroughly covered his tracks that the property may never be found."

Found Dead on the Railroad.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 25.—Thomas H. Cooney, of Pittston, Pa., was found dead on the tracks of the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Petersburg railroad today, a few miles north of this city. He was a passenger on the early train from Richmond to Washington. It is supposed that in passing from one car to another he fell off the platform and was killed. Cooney was a brother of the well known railway superintendent at Pittston.

—Mr. August Heverly, youngest son of Charles Heverly, met with a very serious accident last Wednesday evening by injuring his foot at Morris's lime kilns which has confined him to his home ever since.

Our Indian Summer.

Judging from the very pleasant days during the week, we are inclined to believe that we are entering the beautiful Indian summer season, which occurs in November and lasts about three weeks. According to chronological record, this short season of pleasant weather usually occurs about the middle of the month and is called Indian summer, from the custom of the Indians to avail themselves of this delightful time for harvesting their corn. It is a bland and genial time, in which the birds, insects and plants feel a new creation.

The sky in the mean time, is usually filled with a haze of orange and gold intercepting the direct rays of the sun, yet possessing enough of light and heat to prevent sensations of gloom and chill, while the nights grow sharp and frosty, and the necessary fires give cheerful forcasts of the social winter evenings near at hand. The Indians believed that this season was caused by a wind which came immediately from the court of their great and benevolent God Cautantowit, or the southwestern god. However all this may have come about, we nevertheless should hail with delight this beautiful weather

A New Eldorado.

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 25.—Michael Shuman, a well-known mining man, returned yesterday from his mines in the Okonagon district. He reports the find of a bonanza gold mine at the summit of the Cascade mountains, near Slate creek. Two young men from Anacortes, Baron and Gerrish, are the lucky finders. Shuman says that after a week's work with the crudest of implements they cleaned up $12,000 with plenty of the same rich dirt in sight.

Nearly all the miners in that section of the country have flocked to the New Eldorado and staked out claims.

Riotous Peasants.

Rome, Nov. 25.—Some six hundred peasants and their wives, with flags and clubs, attacked the town hall in Alstaai, near Ferentino, yesterday, shouting that they would pay no more taxes. The police, to frighten them, fired in the air. They were beaten and stoned by the mob and were driven into the hall, where they remained inactive while the peasants threw stones through the windows. Eventually troops dispersed the mob.

EDWARD T. TUTEN.

Local Department.

—The Howard street gentleman has about recovered from the effects of a good dose of Amonia he took for cough medicine.

—A new schedule went into effect on the Pennsylvania railroad and branches on Monday morning. The train that formerly arrived in Bellefonte at 5.35 a. m., now comes in twenty minutes earlier.

—Both associate judges were obliged to go to their respective homes on Monday, Mr. Riley because he was sick and Mr. Faulkner because he has a sick daughter at home. Both are expected back tomorrow.

—For a wonder Watkins' Glen is not represented with a single case in the quarter sessions this week. The reason is probably because most of the prominent (?) residents of that place are now either in jail or fugitives from justice.

—And now it is said that the Fisher & Co. discretionary pool dealers' speculators are getting left in the same way the speculators with Irwin & Co., of Pittsburg, did. It is the same old story of one man getting the money while the other fellow got the experience.

LYON & CO.

—The right kind of a citizen fully appreciates the fact that no expenditure of money brings so great a return to the people, himself included, as that which is paid out for taxes, always provided, that the same are equitably assessed and judiciously applied.

—The Coleville Chapel Methodist society will give a supper in the rooms of the Y. M. C. A. on Friday and Saturday evenings next. Chickens and waffles, oysters and ice cream, will be served. Tickets 25 cents. All are invited to come and help along a good cause.

—Judge Grier, of Butler county, was a prominent visitor in Bellefante this morning while on his way to State College to visit his son who is a student at that place He was accompanied by a Mr. Abrams, a prominent business man of that county. Both gentlemen spent a brief time in court under escort of Gen. Beaver.

—There will be a Union Thanksgiving service in the Reformed church, Thursday morning at 10.30 o'clock. It will differ from the regulation service in the fact that there will be three addresses by Revs. J. H. McGarrah, B. C. Shaw and Geo. Zehner, respectively. There will also be the usual service in the Episcopal church.

—The death of Mrs. Peter Kane, who lived near the toll gate on the way to Milesburg, occurred at her home last Thursday afternoon. Her death was caused by consumption. She was 23 years of age and she leaves a husband and two children. The funeral took place Sunday morning at 10.30 o'clock, Rev. J. C. Young officiating.

—Among the foot ballists on Saturday Yale defeated Harvard 12 to 4; State College beat Oberlin (Ohio) 9 to 6; Williamsport High School defeated Bellefonte Academy 40 to 0, and the Bellefonte and Philipsburg High School game came to a premature close at the end of the first half, the score then standing 4 to 0 in favor of Philipsburg.

—The services in the Lutheran church on Sunday were unusually interesting and impressive. It was the occasion of the anniversary and thank-offering service of the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Society. Miss Puella Dornblazer, of Mackeyville, was present and made a very interesting, even eloquent, address, and the rest of the exercises were equally instructive.

—On Thursday evening of this week a tea will be held at the residence of Mr. Robt. Valentine, to which everybody is most cordially invited. There will be the usual light refreshments on such occasions. The sum collected as an admission fee will be devoted to the fund which the ladies have in charge for the benefit of the Episcopal church. Be sure to be there as a good time is certain.

—When you go away from home, or have friends visiting you, or you are going to give a party or reception, or when your church or society contemplates any proceedings, or when you sell, buy or change your residence or business, or your son or daughter is married, or when your neighbor gets a new baby, or in a word, if you know or hear of any item of interest to the public, bring or send it in and the NEWS will very gladly publish it.

—Miss Mary E. McCloskey, of Romola, was in town Thursday circulating a petition to have music taught in the public schools. She is deeply interested in the plan of teaching the scholars the rudiments of music and is Vice President of the Centre county society. The State Music Teachers Association will meet in Harrisburg Dec. 26-27-28 when a fine time is anticipated among the desciples of Orpheus.

COURT IN SESSION.

What Is Being Done in the Quarter Sessions.

Mouday afternoon's session of court was noted for the dispatch with which the business was conducted, a large number of minor criminal cases being disposed of, after which the case of the Commonwealth vs. Amon Snyder, for larceny, was called and took up the time to this forenoon. The defendant was found guilty of stealing a box of clothes and dishes from the shanty of W. C. Sheesley, sometime in last July. He was sentenced to pay a fine of one dollar, restore the stolen property or the value thereof, and to undergo a term of imprisonment in the Western penitentiary for a period of one year and four months. E R Chambers conducted the defense in the above case.

Commonwealth vs Reuben Pennington, larceny, district attorney Singer and H C Quigley for the prosecution, Clement Dale and Will Gray, Esqs., for the defense. Young Pennington was charged with stealing a watch from Mr. Tate, Gen. Hastings' man-of-all-work. Plead guilty and was sentenced to the reformatory at Huntingdon.

Commonwealth vs Thomas H Fink larceny. District attorney Singer conducted the prosecution and Clement Dale, Esq., the defense. The jury on this case was out when court adjourned.

In the case of Com. vs Lemuel Poorman and Thomas Johnston, malicious mischief, the indictment was quashed because of an error in drawing it up.

Commonwealth vs Christ Rudolph, larceny, found not guilty.

Court then adjourned till afternoon.

The jury in the case of Thomas H. Fink for larceny, returned a verdict of "not guilty."

The next case called was that of the Commonwealth vs John Keysickle, indecent assault and assault with intent to commit rape. The prosecutrix was Jeanette Rhoads, a girl 16 years old. The defendant was found guilty of indecent assault only.

Commonwealth vs. E G McElarney, f. and b., Clara Spicer prosecutrix. Found guilty and sentenced to pay a fine of $25, costs of prosecution, $30 to the defendant and $1.50 per week for seven years for the maintenance of the child, and to give bond in the sum of $600 to the overseers of Boggs township for the faithful performance of the same.

In the case of the Commonwealth against Charles Meyer and Stanley Rhine, charged with stealing a horse belonging to Michael Strohm, the defendants plead guilty, through their attorneys, C M Bower, Esq and Senator Hackenburg, of Milton, where the young men lived. Mr. Bower made a very eloquent appeal for a lenient sentence as the boys are young, being only 17 years of age. They both belong to respectable families, who are greatly distressed over the boys' misdoings.

Senator Hackenburg presented large petitions, numerously signed by residents of Milton, asking the mercy of the court, and endorsing the previous good character of the boys, The Senator also made an earnest plea in their behalf, specially asking that the boys might not be branded as criminals.

The court directed that the boys be put in the custody of the sheriff for two days, during which time he would examine the petitions presented in their behalf and decide what to do, as he did not want to act under any influence of sentiment, etc.

Court then adjourned till Wednesday morning.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

On the convening of court John Keysicle convicted Tuesday of indecent assault, was sentenced to pay a fine of $50. costs of prosecution and imprisonment in the county jail for a period of four months.

The court then heard the evidence of the Commonwealth in the horse stealing case against Charles Meyer and Stanley Rhine.

Lowrey Walker plead guilty to the charge of f. and b. and was given the usual sentence.

Commonwealth vs John Hines, assault and battery. E R Chambers assisted the district attorney and J C Meyer conducted the defense. Charles Frantz was the prosecutor. Found guilty of assault and sentenced $5 and costs.

Commonwealth vs Joseph Travers, assault and battery, Sarah Peterson prosecutrix. Clement Dale, Esq., and G. W. Ziegler conducted the defense. These parties are from Munson, P., and the case was still on trial when court adjourned till afternoon.

Eberites in Session.

Bishops Horn, Bowman, Breyfogel and Esher, comprising the board of bishops of the Evangelical association, with other church officials are in session in Harrisburg. They are in conference with the general council for the purpose of consummating the necessary arrangements for carrying into effect the provisions of the general conference regarding certain matters connected with its property in this state.

State College News.

The absence of a body of water near the College has been a source of regret in the Winter time to the young people who wish to skate and to the College in putting away ice. By the construction of an embankment of a few feet back of the Gymnasium, a small lake has been formed which will fill both these needs this Winter.

A photographer is spending some ten days in taking views of the students at work for illustrating the annual Report.

A Thanksgiving recess will be given from Wednesday afternoon until Monday morning. Many students will go to Pittsburg to see the State College team play the Pittsburg Athletic Club. The team was in great demand for Thanksgiving day as is shown in the offer of the Athletic club to give them $500 for the game.

The short course in Dairying and in Agriculture begins in January. Indications point to an attendance surpassing the large classes last year. The Department of Agriculture has issued an attractive circular showing illustrations of students at their work.

Gone to the Great Camp.

At a regular meeting of P. O. S. of A., of Unionville, a committee was appointed to draw up a set of resolutions of respect on the death of Brother David B. Hall.

WHEREAS, The all wise Ruler has visited our camp and removed by the hand of death our worthy brother, David B. Hall.

Resolved, That in the death of Brother Hall we have lost a faithful member, the community a good young man, the mother, a dutiful son, the brothers, a loving link from the home circle.

Resolved, That we tender our united sympathy and prayers to the afflicted family, and friends, and point them for comfort to Him who has promised to help bear our burdens.

Resolved, That our charter be draped in mourning for thirty days. That these resolutions be entered upon a copy of the minutes, a copy sent to the bereaved family and that they be published in at least two of the county papers.

Com. { E. E. ERHARD, L. B. BARTHURST, W. E. KARNS.

Not Dead Yet.

Misinformed persons have been circulating the rumor that the Bellefonte Band had again gone under, and disbanded. This is by no means the case. The Band is in better shape today than it ever was. The new uniforms have been purchased, also several fine new instruments, and all paid for, and money in the treasury to pay all expenses for a long time to come. There are seventeen regular members and all are determined to work hard during the winter, so that next season Bellefonte will have a better Band then ever before. The boys will be out tomorrow afternoon, if the weather permits, playing in the Diamond, and through the principal streets, and will thus give the citizens an opportunity to see that their Band is still in a flourishing existence.

Gen. Hastings Returned.

Gen. D. H. Hastings and wife accompanied by the governor-elect's private secretary, Mr. Lewis E. Beitler, of Philadelphia, arrived home on the late train Tuesday evening. During the General and Mrs. Hastings' two week's absence they were in New York, guests at the Holland Hotel and enjoying themselves attending the great chrysanthemum show and the horse show. They are now fully rested and the General will at once begin preparations to so dispose of his personal affairs that, when inaugurated governor on the 16th of January next, he will be able to give his undivided time and attention to the conduct of his administration.

Buncoed Out of $1,600.

The Sunbury Item says that Lemuel Chamberlain, a former resident of Irish valley, was buncoed out of $1,600 on Thursday by sharpers on a Pennsylvania railroad train, while going to his home in Elk county. Just how it happened is not plausibly explained, but it is presumed they got the old man, who is seventy years of age, interested in some sort of a game and then worked him for his money. Another theory advanced is that he was deliberately robbed, by the sharpers. Chamberlain visited Mt. Carmel Thursday afternoon, after having disposed of a property in Shamokin, from the sale of which he realized the amount stolen.

—The Undine band, recently organized, will give its first open air concert in the Diamond, on Thursday afternoon, Everybody come out and show your appreciation of their effort.

FOSTER'S PREDICTIONS.

The Kind of Weather We May Have in the Coming Month.

My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm wave to cross the continent from the 21st to the 26th, and the next will reach the Pacific coast about the 27th, cross the western mountains by the close of the 28th, the great central valleys from the 29th to Dec. 1 and the eastern states about Dec. 2. The principal feature of this disturbance will be the severe cold wave following it, which will be accompanied by extensive snows in the northern states.

The first storm wave of December will reach the Pacific coast about the 2d, cross the western mountains by the close of the 4th, the great central valleys from the 5th to the 7th and the eastern states about the 8th.

This disturbance will be of more than average force, and will be followed by cold weather. The coldest waves of the month will cross the continent from Dec. 1 to 4, and 7 to 10. Warm waves will cross the western mountains about Nov. 27 and Dec. 3, the great central valleys about Nov. 29 and Dec. 5 and the eastern states about Dec. 1 and 7. Cool waves will cross the western mountains about Nov. 30 and Dec. 6, the great central valleys Dec. 2 and 8 and the eastern states Dec. 4 and 10. The average temperature and rainfall for December and the general character of the incoming winter will be given in my next bulletin.

School Report.

Following is a report of Shope's school for the second month ending Nov. 23, 1894:

Number of pupils enrolled, males 20, females 22, total 42. Those present every day are Lydia Rumbarger and Clinton Swartz. Those missing one day are Ella Zimmerman, Lizzie Swartz, Katie Harvey, Phoebe Rumbarger, Ira Kephart, Ernest Corman and Cameron Kreps. Those missing no words in spelling are Ella Zimmerman, Sadie Zimmerman, Rebecca Harvey, Bertha Shope, Edwin Cooper, Bertha Corman, Edna Gray, Lizzie Gray and Allie Gray. Those missing one word, J. Burton Kephart, Joseph Harvey, John Swartz, Sarah Gray and Verne Kreps.

M. V. THOMAS, teacher.

—In speaking of the dedication of the new armory in this place the Tyrone Herald winds up as follows: "It will be remembered that Company B had a big racket after returning from Punxsutawney last summer, but the organization has come out of the woods with tremendous success and glory. The people of Bellefonte are not of the kind to let go their hold of a good organization, hence they [illegible] Captain Reber and his command [illegible] effort to make the company solid, and the fruits of that effort are already apparent. The organization and that enterprising town are to be congratulated on this evidence of solidity, certainty and efficiency." These words of commendation coming from our brother in Tyrone are greatly appreciated by our citizens.

A Bad Accident.

A peculiar and bad accident occurred on Friday to Will Smeltzer, a school teacher at the Forge. Hearing one of his scholars using profane language, and not desisting when spoken to, Smeltzer started after him on the run. He in some way made a misstep, breaking his leg in two places. And so great was the momentum with which he was going that the broken bone protruded through the flesh and through his clothing. Dr. Harris was summoned and rendered the necessary surgical attendance and at this writing Smeltzer is getting along as well as can be expected.

—Prof. S. A. Reeser, of Franklin, Pa., a noted elocutionist, gave a fine program of readings and recitations in Milesburg Friday evening. The selections rendered were ten in number, and included humorous as well as pathetic. At times the audience was convulsed with laughter, and again were bathed in tears. We have not the time and space necessary to give the extended notice the merit of the entertainment deserves, but must be content with simply saying that it was first-class in every respect and well worth going to hear.

Rev. Noll Accepts a Call from Carlisle

Rev. Miles O. Noll, the able young pastor of the Bellefonte Reformed charge, has accepted a call from Carlisle. Bellefonte people in general will regret the departure of Rev. Noll, as he was held in highest esteem by his entire flock and members of other denominations. He is a young man of ability and we bespeak for him a bright future; genial, of pleasant manner and sincere in his calling, he will not lack friends wherever his lot is to engage in the work of the Master.

—This is court week and consequently there will be a large crowd of strangers in Bellefonte. There are a number of important cases to come up for trial among the list being that of J. L. Showers, for forgery, an embezzlement case, several larceny cases, and a whole list of minor criminal causes. The week will undoubtedly be a busy one, and this will be the last session of court Judge Furst will hold in this county.

Attempted Suicide.

Quite a sensation was caused on Jail Hill on Monday evening by Debby Foulk, a daughter of Joshua Foulk, attempting to commit suicide by taking laudanum. The proper antidotes were administered and the girl's life was saved. Disappointment in love is said to be the cause for the rash act.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Personal Pencillings.

Mrs. Henry Gentzel and daughter, Miss Mame, of Abbotstown, are visiting friends in Bellefonte.

'Squire John L. Neff, of Boggs township, is attending court this week. Mr. Neff is one of those always jovial, congenial and sociable gentlemen, whom it is a pleasure to have around.

Millheim Murmurings.

Tylersville, Clinton county, is having quite a boom during these tight times. The following men have built or are building houses for their own use during the past year: Frank Gingerich, Newton Bierly, Samuel Glantz, John Garis, Charles and John Frantz. Also a number of new barns have been erected and the Evangelical congregation are having a new church erected. It is expected that a railroad will be built through here in the near future.

Mr. Jacob W. Lutz, of Tylersville, Pa., has a man in that vicinity who makes what is called birch oil, out of the twigs of birch trees. It takes about four days to grind enough of the birch to distil one gallon of the oil, and the same can be manufactured only nine months in the year, it being too dry during months of June, July and August. The demand for the oil is greater than Mr. Lutz can supply.

Miss Lodie S. Musser, the amiable and accomplished daughter of W. S. Musser, proprietor of the Musser House, in this place, has gone to Bellefonte to spend her Thanksgiving. She was accompanied by her aunt, Mrs. Mogal, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Himelrich and Miss Nellie Cameron, of Lewisburg.

Mrs. Bressler, wife of Charles Bressler, near Feidler, died on the 21st and was buried on the 23rd at Wolf's chapel. She leaves a husband and nine children, the youngest being about two years old. Mrs. Bressler was aged about 45 years.

Mr. S. M. Campbell has two iron gray horses for sale, which can be bought cheap for cash.

C. W. Albright has purchased a nice lot of Portland sleighs.

Mrs. Mary Knarr, of Laurelton, Union county, is visiting at the residence of Mr. J. P. Frank, of Rebersburg.

Mr. Leitzel and Mr. Henry Corman, of Rebersburg, are both quite ill with little chance of recovery.

Rebuilding Begun.

Operations on the rebuilding of the burned Mill Hall brick works plant have been begun, the masons and bricklayers now being at work. As soon as the lumber arrives the carpenters will start in. Everything will now be pushed, as fast as the weather will permit, to an early completion.

The company has awarded contracts for machinery and material as follows: For dryer, six trucks and sixty cars, to the Standard dry kiln company, Indianapolis, Ind.; brick mud machine to Fate Gunsallus, Plymouth, Ohio; engine and boiler, connections complete, and small engine for blower, to the Valley iron works, Williamsport; lumber to P. B. Cryder, Bellefonte. Contracts for other machinery will be let this week.

William Fulton, of Mill Hall, is superintending the rebuilding of the works. The company now has 950,000 paving and fine building brick on hand.

The fact that operations have begun on this plant so soon after the fire, shows the progressiveness of the company. It will also be a pleasing sight to Mill Hall employes to see the walls of the works rearing upward.—Democrat.

Marriage Licenses.

Following is the list of marriage licenses granted by the register of Centre county during the past week:

Jacob Bowes and Della Kunes, both of Liberty twp.

Jeremiah L. Rachan, of Cedar Springs, and Bertha V. Mechtly, of Nittany.

J. M. Goodhart and Lettie Ross, both of Centre Hall.

L. C. Gramley, of Rebersburg, and Elmira Wolf, of Wolf's Store.

William Fetterolf, of Gregg twp., and Martha Emerick, of Potter twp.

Change of Time on the Beech Creek Railroad.

On the new time card of the Beech Creek Railroad effective November 26th, train No. 33 runs through to Patton and train No. 36 starts from Patton. The Beech Creek Road continues under this new schedule the excellent local and through service that has been furnished in the past.

—The Y. M. C. A. will observe Thanksgiving by holding a reception for men, Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. There will be good music and brief addresses by Gen. Beaver and others. The ladies will serve hot coffee and sandwiches. Every thing will be free, and all men young and old are invited to attend.

FOULLY MURDERED.

A Stranger Meets a Sad Fate in Tyrone.

A telephone dispatch from Tyrone states that a man, a stranger in that place, was found dead near the Pennsylvania depot about eight o'clock this morning, and the evidence was conclusive that he had met his death by being foully murdered, as he was stabbed in many places, a number of the wounds being of such a nature as to have caused death.

So far as could be learned no one saw the tragedy take place, and no reason whatever can be assigned. The fact that the man is a total stranger in that locality only deepens the mystery. But several persons saw another individual, also a stranger, acting in a peculiarly suspicious manner, and afterwards disappearing, and it is believed that if he is not the murderer, he at least knows something about it. Detectives have been sent for and will at once go to work on the case, and it is believed that they will soon be able to run down the murderer.

Peace Negotiations.

The official announcement by the Japanese Government, which comes by way of Berlin, that it is ready to listen to any propositions that China may have to make through the medium of the American Minister at Tokio, indicates that Japan now regards the war as virtually won. The fall of Port Arthur is practically decisive. It would cost time, of course, and some more fighting to advance farther, but the Chinese are whipped, and they know it, and they might as well make terms now as later.

The selection of the United States Minister as the medium of communication is in accordance with the previous understanding. Both countries can confide in the impartial justice of this government, which also can command the respect of all the European powers as no one of them could do.

This government has not undertaken to arbitrate between China and Japan, but merely to use its good offices in the settlement of the results of the war. It is already sufficiently clear what these are to be. Japan will insist upon the surrender of all pretense of Chinese authority in Corea, and upon an indemnity that will compensate her for her own expenditures, and cripple the further warlike enterprises of her enemy.

There is a still more important result which it will not be necessary to mention in the negotiations. That is, that Japan has taken her place at one bound among the powers of the world, and one whose friendship is worth cultivating.

Good Pottery Clay.

Renovo News: Is there oil or gas at Tamarack? is a question that experiments alone will prove, but one thing that is in abundance is the best kind of pottery clay in existence. There are thousands of tons of the clay there, and it is of the very finest quality. We have two samples of brick in our office made from Tamarack clay, taken from the lands now owned by George H. Spangler, of Renovo. This clay was taken from the swamps directly to the fire clay works on Drury's Run operated by our townsman, P. H. Sullivan. It was burned for nine days, three days at a heat of 3,500 degrees, which statement Mr. Sullivan will corroborate. This region offers a great chance for capitalists, as there is a fortune in the clay.

Besides the clay, there are indications that in the same locality will be found oil and gas, as the swamp is similar in many respects to the oil fields at Kane, Pa. The distance of this swampy district from the well drilled on Kettle creek some years ago, where some gas was struck, is only about three miles, and the surface water shows an oily substance all through the swamp.

A Herald of the Infant Year.

Clip the last thirty years or more from the century, and the segment will represent the term of the unbounded popularity of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The opening of the year 1895 will be signalized by the appearance of a fresh Almanac of the Bitters, in which the uses, derivation and action of this world famous medicine will be lucidly set forth. Everybody should read it. The calendar and astronomical calculations to be found in this brochure are always astonishingly accurate and the statistics, illustrations, humor and other reading matter rich in interest and full of profit. The Hostetter Company, of Pittisburg, Pa. publish it themselves. They employ more than sixty hands in the mechanical work, and more than eleven months in the year are consumed in its preparation. It can be obtained, without cost, of all druggists and country dealers, and is printed in English; German, French, Welsh, Norwegian, Swedish; Holland, Bohemian and Spanish.

Attention, Comrades!

The election of officers for the year 1895 and delegates to the Department Encampment, will be held by Gregg Post, No. 95, on Saturday, December 1st, 1894, at 7.30 p. m. All comrades are requested to be present.

THOMAS DONACHY, Commander.
F. P. GREENE, Adjutant.
